U.S. Senator Among 25 Dead In Plane Crash

Worst Commercial Air Line Disaster In History Occurs

Passengers, Four Of Crew Virtually Blown To Bits As Transport Falls In Virginia Field En Route To Capital

Passenger List

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Twenty-five persons, including a United States senator, three internal revenue department employees, two members of the Interstate Commerce Commission and one agent of the federal bureau of investigation, were virtually blown to bits today when a transport plane crashed and exploded in the worst commercial aviation accident in American history.

The bodies, according to persons at the scene, were scattered over a two-acre plot.

Four members of the crew—the pilot, co-pilot, observer and hostess—were among the victims.

The plane, enveloped in a heavy rainstorm, crashed in an alfalfa field near Lovettsville, Va. The ship, on the Pennsylvania Central Air Lines run between Washington and Pittsburgh, ran into a storm that flooded that section of Virginia and made roads almost impassable, according to observers.

The dead senator is Ernest Lunde, Minnesota, who was en route to his summer home.

Whatever the cause, it was the first fatal accident for commercial air lines since March 26, 1939, near Oklahoma City, Okla., when eight were killed. It was the first fatal accident for the Pennsylvania Central Air Lines in more than 13 years of operation.

Once before a United States senator had died in an air disaster. Bronson Cutting, New Mexico, was killed when an air transport crashed near Kirkville, Mo., on May 6, 1935.

John Rhodes, 24-year-old reporter of the Winchester, Va., Evening Star, who went to the scene for The Associated Press, said the alfalfa field where the plane crashed presented an eerie scene with parts of the plane, dismembered bodies, and clothing scattered over a two-acre plot.

Those aboard the plane realized they were going to crash, Rhodes said, because a note dropped by the stewardess, Margaret Carson, Pittsburgh, was found on a farm some three miles

BIG WATER TANKS CRASH, KILL TRIO

Two Bodies Recovered After 20,000-Gallon Reservoirs Fall

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Two 20,000-gallon water tanks crashed through a bath house on the boardwalk at the foot of Florida avenue today, killing Mrs. Connie F. Arbor, 42, Philadelphia, and at least two other persons. Ten were injured.

Mrs. Arbor and another unidentified woman were unclad in the bathhouse when with a thunderous roar the two wooden tanks fell through the roof of the one-story wooden frame structure and crushed them to death. It took firemen more than an hour to recover the bodies, and two hours later firemen were still trying to recover the body of an unidentified man.

Police Chief James A. McMenamin had expressed belief at least four persons were killed in the crash, but only three bodies were located during the first three hours of search in the ruins of the Florida avenue bath. Mrs. Arbor's husband was injured.

ON ERRAND OF MERCY, INJURED IN ACCIDENT

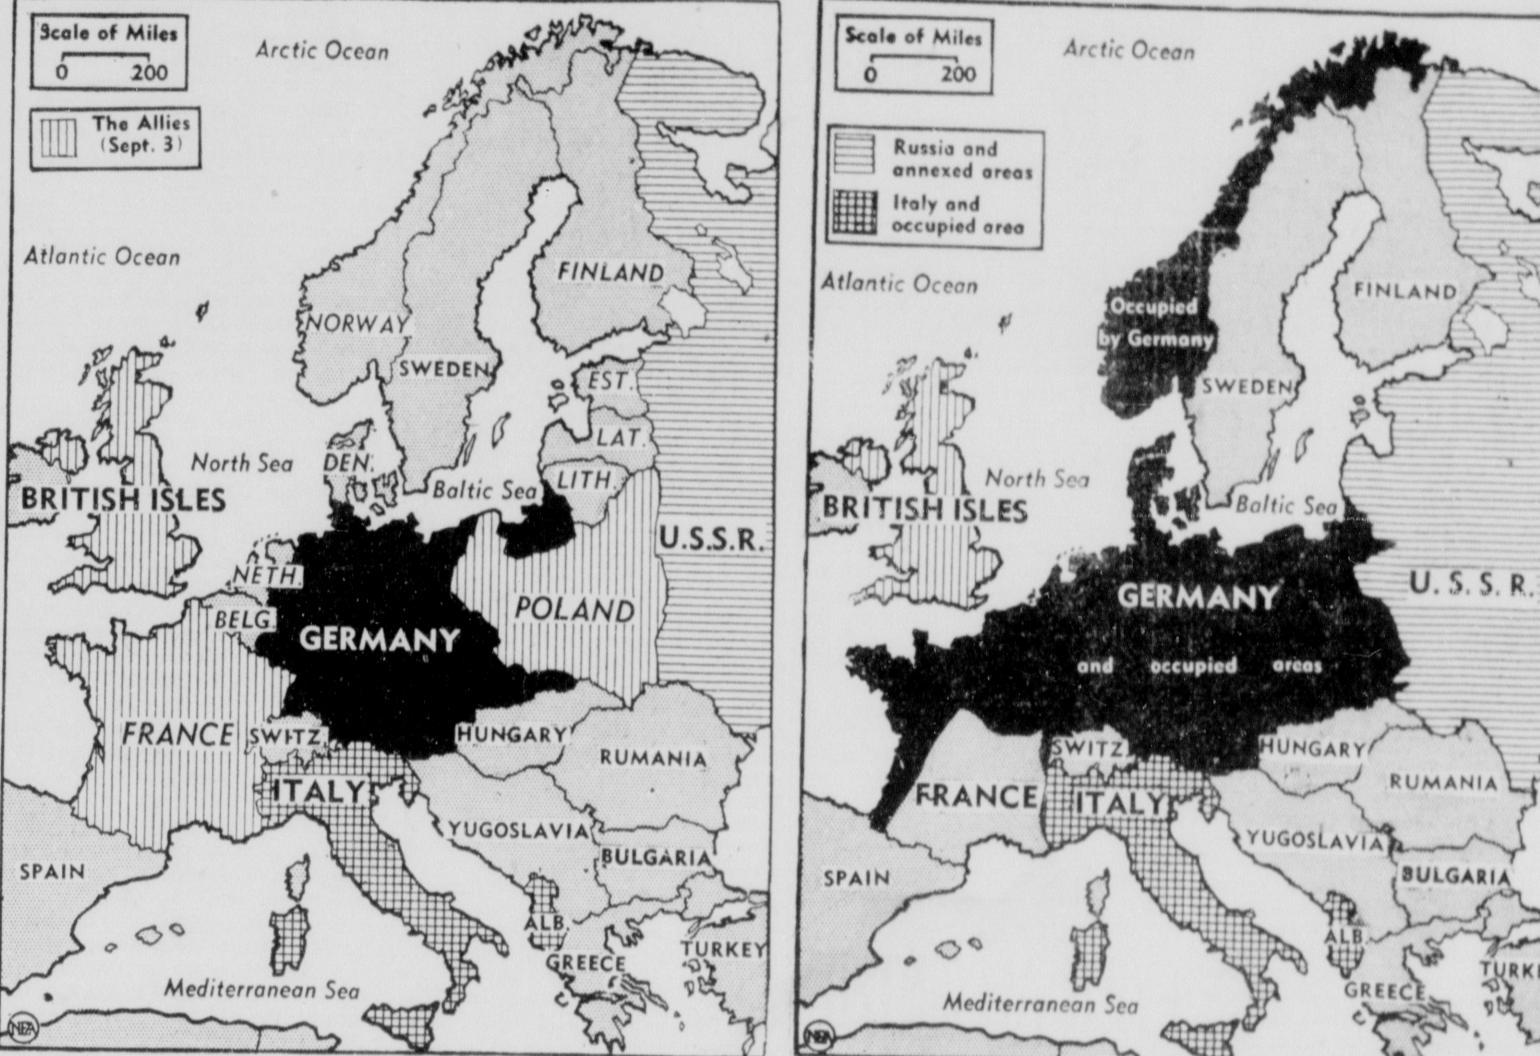

On an errand of mercy for a sick brother in a CCC camp near Swartz P. Musick, 17-year-old youth, landed in a hospital here, when his automobile overturned after striking the railing of a concrete bridge not far from Swartz Saturday afternoon, it was reported last night.

St. Francis Sanitarium reported his condition undetermined. It was said that he was suffering from bruises of the body and lacerations of the face.

Musick was also stationed at the CCC camp.

Europe On September 1, 1939, And One Year Later

The tentacles of totalitarianism were stubby on the eve of World War II, but could be seen ready to reach east and west. A war of nerves had prepared the nations of Europe for the war of steel that began September 1, 1939. Mapped above is the continent as it looked on that date, with italic labels on nations destined for defeat.

September 1, 1940, finds the black shadow of totalitarianism far flung across Europe. Twelve months of war have seen the subjection of 11 nations to the military or political conquest of three aggressor nations. Great Britain alone is left free and fighting to buck the dictator-dominated mapped above.

Draft Bill To Pass Quickly, Survey Shows

BATTLE LOOMING OVER INDUSTRIES

Some Committee Members Say Provision Will Be Omitted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Members of the military committee said today that informal surveys showed the House would pass the Burke-Wadsworth conscription bill next week, but that there was considerable opposition to proposals to permit the government to condemn and take over private industrial plants for defense.

Some legislators went so far as to predict privately that the industry provision would be omitted from the House bill on the final vote. They said, however, that a modification permitting government operation of these facilities would stand at least an even chance of being accepted.

Coming quickly to the forefront of the Capitol discussion on the legislation, this issue temporarily relegated to the background arguments over the fundamental provisions for registering men from 21 to 44, inclusive, and Donald Staire, PCA observer, Washington.

Hurricane Causes Coast Citizens To Find Safety

Tropical Storm Heads Toward North Carolina, Virginia Capes

MANTEO, N. C., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Shipping and port towns braced tonight for a tropic-born hurricane that apparently was bearing down on the bleak sand banks of North Carolina and the Virginia capes.

The storm, the second in three weeks to threaten the South Atlantic seaboard, sent barometers falling at the coast guard station at Cape Hatteras—the graveyard of the Atlantic—and angry seas rose along the Carolina banks.

Some legislators went so far as to predict privately that the industry provision would be omitted from the House bill on the final vote. They said, however, that a modification permitting government operation of these facilities would stand at least an even chance of being accepted.

Coming quickly to the forefront of the Capitol discussion on the legislation, this issue temporarily relegated to the background arguments over the fundamental provisions for registering men from 21 to 44, inclusive, and

MONROE STORES TO DISPLAY LATEST FALL FASHIONS DURING WEEK

This week has been designated "Back to School Week" and Monroe merchants are displaying the latest fall merchandise for school-age youngsters, ranging from kindergarten age to the sophisticated seniors, who will trek back to college during the next fortnight.

"Back to School Week" is one of the five merchandising events recently set by the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, of which David C. Silverstein is chairman.

Without exception, Monroe and West Monroe merchants have announced that fall stocks have arrived and will be shown in their stores during the coming week.

The league playoff will start at 3 p.m. today between Monroe and Greenville. The second game will be held tomorrow, starting at 8:15 p.m.

The swimming meet, between 3 and 5 p.m. today, will be in conjunction with the convention here of the Federation of Young Men's Clubs.

Activities for the celebration here Monday are scheduled to open with a parade of floats and cars, first through West Monroe and then in Monroe to Bernstein park for other festivities.

The parade will assemble at Louisburg and Riverfront promptly at 9:30 a.m., and is scheduled to start at 10 a.m.

STATE TAX RISES BECOME EFFECTIVE

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Tax increases on which Governor Sam Jones' administration counts for an additional $2,440,000 of annual revenue became effective at midnight Saturday.

On the paying end they will probably be felt most keenly as an extra one-cent levy on every pack of cigarettes, an extra 50 cents on every gallon of liquor or sparkling wine. However, there are other increases, a comparatively small one on still wines, a doubling of the rate on expensive cigars, and a small increase on package tobacco.

The tobacco increase has been set down in the revenue collector's books for $910,000 more revenue, the alcoholic beverage hike, for $1,530,000. They are part of a new tax program to replace the sales tax which goes out of existence January 1.

Frank C. Walker treasurer of the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park, N. Y., will be nominated Monday or Tuesday as postmaster general, succeeding James A. Farley. President Roosevelt announced yesterday.

EROS MAN IS STABBED; IN MONROE HOSPITAL

Thomas J. Lawson, 58, who was allegedly stabbed several times in an altercation with an unidentified man in Eros Saturday night, was rushed by ambulance to St. Francis Sanitarium in a critical condition, according to hospital attendants.

Attendants reported that Lawson was severely wounded in a fight. Lawson suffered seriously from loss of blood. He was rushed to St. Francis by an ambulance of the Dixie Funeral Home.

'BACK TO SCHOOL' SHOWING PLANNED

Citizens Enjoy Extended Week-end Holiday In Twin Cities

With businesses in general closed through tomorrow, citizens of the Twin Cities were taking advantage of a week-end lengthened by Labor day.

Many late yesterday and early today started shore vacations. The highlight of the Labor day celebration in the two cities will be the annual parade and barbecue sponsored by the Central Trades and Labor Council.

The weatherman predicted fair to partly cloudy skies for Sunday and Monday throughout the state.

Among the holiday events are the annual Labor day tournament at the Municipal Golf Course, the beginning of the playoffs in the Cotton States League at Casino park and a swimming meet at the Swayze Natatorium.

The golf matches will get underway this morning and will continue through tomorrow, when the finals in all flights will be held.

The league playoff will start at 3 p.m. today between Monroe and Greenville. The second game will be held tomorrow, starting at 8:15 p.m.

The swimming meet, between 3 and 5 p.m. today, will be in conjunction with the convention here of the Federation of Young Men's Clubs.

Activities for the celebration here Monday are scheduled to open with a parade of floats and cars, first through West Monroe and then in Monroe to Bernstein park for other festivities.

International In Brief

(By Associated Press)

Battle of bombers:

Nazis, tightening air siege of London, hold British capital under seven day and night air alarm; raid air-dromes, machine-gun town's streets; British report vital hits in raid on Berlin, widespread attacks on Nazi communications, oil reserves, air bases. British admit losing 22 planes in the day-night fighting, claim 63 German planes downed; Nazis admit only 28, say 124 British were felled.

Echoes:

Romanian foreign minister says nation got Nazi military guarantee like Slovakia's; King Carol's army begins demobilizing to pave way for occupation of some Romanian territory by Nazi armored units; French government acknowledges rebellions flare up in French Indo-China and French West Africa; uprisings follow decision of other French possessions to remain in fight as British Allies.

After reading your generous remarks," Riley said to Bravo, "the management of The Roosevelt Hotel would rather cancel the matter, if the state of Louisiana refuses to settle the obligation, than allow you to pay for something for which neither you nor your government are liable."

"We wish to convey to you and to your president our regret that this matter was ever brought to the public's attention and offer you our sincere thanks for your fairness."

Liverpool Believed Blasted By Planes In Heavy Assault

Hitler Promises To Protect Rumania, Minister Says, As German Bombers Raid United Kingdom

(By Associated Press) A hurtling hurricane of literally thousands of incendiary bombs sprawled flames over a city in Northwest England last night and early today and great masses of German planes roared over for more than six hours in the sky may well have been the greatest raid of the war.

British censorship carefully guards identity of the city, which may have been Liverpool, England's most important northwest port and possibly the most important in the entire British Isles now that London is der such constant aerial bombardment.

The British acknowledged an raid shelter was hit, that there was a number of casualties and damage to private property. An entire block of offices was reportedly set on fire. No military damage acknowledged.

London was hammered almost ceaselessly throughout Saturday by six waves of raiders, and was kept awake three hours this morning by less numerous raiders.

The foe was giving London a breather while he concentrated on the northwest objective.

Simultaneously, the Nazis rained bomb-blows on nearly every port of Britain, with airports as a chief objective. But the British said no damage was done to the airfields.

The Germans seemed determined to smash the Royal Air Force if at all possible.

For the RAF is a stern barrier Germany's long-threatened but attempted invasion, and continues to shower bombs of its own on Berlin, throughout Germany and on Germany's ally, Italy, as well as on Nazi-conquered countries.

German radio stations went off the air late last night, indicating that the British were raiding again.

Indicative of the scope of the fighting over England was the Saturday toll of planes destroyed. The Germans, who lost 124 British and 28 Nazi planes, were lost; the British tallied 63 Nazis and 22 Britons.

Military commentators in Berlin said the Nazi raids, growing steadily more frequent and intense, meant that the "catastrophe" is approaching "our last enemy."

After trying for weeks to "soften" England for the final blow, they said Adolf Hitler's Luftwaffe was readying the knockout.

In England, however, there was calm optimism. Although unannounced numbers of persons were killed and injured, houses were demolished and air bases raided, official reports indicated the Nazi raids had

REFUSE TO TAKE MONEY OF CONSUL

Would Rather Cancel Bill For Banquet Than Cause Embarrassment

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Roosevelt Hotel today assured Louis G. Bravo, consul general of Nicaragua in New Orleans, that he would never be called on to pay a hotel bill for a state dinner given here for President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua on May 2, 1939.

Bravo in a statement said that if the state refused to pay the bill for $3,780.70 which the hotel presented to him, he would pay it as he did not wish the name of President Somoza of Nicaragua associated in any way in the public mind with an unpaid banquet check.

The banquet was given by former Governor Richard W. Leche's administration and the bill was presented just recently to Attorney General Eugene Stanley in the new Governor Sam Jones administration who ruled that the state could not constitutionally pay it.

ANNUAL MEETING WILL OPEN TODAY

Monroe Group Will Be Host
To National Federation
At Convention

The opening session of the convention of the National Federation of Young Men's Clubs will be held at 9 a.m. Sunday at the Virginia Hotel.

Registration will start at 8 a.m. Other activities of the day include luncheon for the officers, their wives and special guests, softball elimination contests, boat rides on the Ouachita, and the queen's coronation ball.

George Guerriero, Monroe, who has been appointed general chairman of the convention, said, "We bid you welcome to one convention of the federation that shall go down in the history of our organization as an outstanding gathering in the annals of the federation."

Highlight of the convention, sponsored by the Progressive Men's Club of Monroe, will be the crowning of Miss Rose Chemino, Bunkie, as queen, a ceremony performed annually by the federation.

The election of officers and the selection of the next convention city will be held Monday.

Official business of the federation is handled at a meeting of representatives from each chapter, called the board of governors, presided over by the president.

Ferdinand Cashio, Shreveport attorney, will be guest speaker. Among the honor guests invited to attend are Governor Sam Jones, James A. Noe, former governor of Louisiana, Mrs. Noe, Mrs. Phil Lisotta, Tiny Lisotta, Judge David I. Garrett, Mayor H. H. Benoit, Judge W. M. Harper, Sheriff Milton Coverdale and Rev. F. Donehue, and mayors of various cities in which federation chapters are located.

Approximately 600 delegates are expected to attend, among them representatives of Abbeville, Donaldsonville, Shreveport, Lafayette, Monroe, Alexandria, Bunkie, Bossier City and Baton Rouge.

BAPTIST UNIT SET TO MEET MONDAY

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 31.—(P)—The Southwestern Baptist Religious Education Association, representing 1,500,000 Baptists in seven Southwestern states, will meet here September 2-4, President T. C. Gardner, Dallas, announced today.

Principal project, Gardner said, will be the analyzing of American youth and its current problems.

Laymen and ministers on the program include: Dr. J. B. Tidwell, Baylor University, Waco, Tex.; Dr. N. A. Moore, Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Tex.; Dr. Forbes Yarborough, Oklahoma Baptist University, Norman, and Dr. T. L. Holcomb, Dr. P. E. Burroughs and W. E. Harrell, all of Nashville, Tenn.

States represented include Arizona, Arkansas, Louisiana, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

FHA ADMINISTRATOR REPORTS ON HOMES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P)—Stewart McDonald, federal housing administrator, said today that increasing applications for FHA mortgage insurance "indicates exceptional autumn activity" in home construction.

In the week ended August 24, McDonald said, 4,904 applications for mortgage insurance were received. This was 60 per cent greater than in the corresponding week of 1939 and compared with 4,855 in the preceding week.

The administrator reported also that borrowing for modernization and repair reached a 1940 peak in the month ended August 24 with a total of 55,250 loans amounting to $23,688,423.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reported that home mortgages amounting to $367,054,000 were recorded in July, compared with $355,463,000 in June and $300,680,000 in July, 1939.

Brown, Christian social relations, and Mrs. Herbert DePriest, secretary of student work.

MINING COMPANY FIRE LOSS HIGH

Jefferson Island Salt Firm Plant Hit By Early Morning Blaze

LAFAYETTE, Aug. 31.—(P)—Fire of undetermined origin early Saturday morning destroyed a major portion of the Jefferson Island Salt Mining Company, located on the highway between New Iberia and Abbeville, causing damage estimated by officials of the company to be close to $750,000.

The blaze was reported to have originated in the evaporating plant at 2:45 a.m. and the flames spread so rapidly that the fire sprinkler system was of no avail. The evaporating plant, several major office buildings, the packing plant, warehouses and the main shaft building over the mine were completely demolished. Only the new power plant, which is housed in a brick building, was not damaged.

No definite check has been made on the probable cause but officials believe that some mild explosion caused from accumulation of gas in the evaporating plant caused gas pipes to be broken and spread the blaze.

No miners were in the 800-foot shaft at the time of the blaze.

The highest loss was caused to expensive and complicated machinery used in cracking, drying and processing the salt. Practically all of this specially made machinery was a loss as well as a large supply of containers, bags and labels.

Some 325 men are regularly employed at the mine which works on a 24-hour basis. Crews were called out to fight the blaze and fire fighting equipment from New Iberia, Jeanette and Abbeville were on the scene to aid in preventing the spread of the blaze. Several buildings were saved including the machine shops and one warehouse.

The plant, erected shortly after the World War is owned by a stock company with headquarters at Louisville, Ky. Officials reported that a large portion of the loss was covered by insurance.

The mine is situated on Lake Peigneur on the Vermilion and Iberia parish border line.

No injuries were reported nor was the historic home of Joe Jefferson, situated near the buildings, touched by the blaze.

DISCUSS FAIR

STERLINGTON, Aug. 31.—(Special)—The Sterlington Home Demonstration club elected officers recently when they met with Mrs. H. J. Tull. The new officers are as follows:

Mrs. Fred Dupree, president; Mrs. M. F. Moncrief, vice-president; Mrs. Annie Moore, secretary-treasurer.

The parish fair was the chief topic of discussion by Mrs. W. E. Hendricks, chairman of the agriculture booth, and Mrs. Moncrief, chairman of the home demonstration booth.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames M. F. Moncrief, B. C. Dean, C. R. Alexander, Merlin Veach, Bessie McInnis, Ford Simpson, Fred Dupree, W. E. Hendricks, Annie Moore, D. Y. Smith, Dolly Baker, Margaret Alexander, John Lambert, Boyd Birthingham, C. B. Payne and the hostess.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. C. R. Alexander.

OPENING DATE SET

FERRILAY, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Concordia Parish schools will open for the 1940-41 session September 16, it was announced by J. S. Burris, parish superintendent of education.

The colored high schools will open on September 30, he said, and the colored rural elementary school will open November 4.

New Books Available At Public Library

Among the newer books and one that shows a refreshing treatment of an autobiographical theme is Hans Zinsser's "As I Remember Him—Biography of R. S." By the use of the mythical R. S., Dr. Zinsser saves himself from the too frequent use of the personal I and achieves an entirely original autobiographical note.

The book carries us through the little German-American school which prepares the author for Columbia University, some fossil hunting in the west, the Spanish-American War and through a young doctor's internship, and eventual medical practice. It is at all times entertaining and sustains the theme that any special interest is simply a monomania unless in harmony with all aspects of life.

The book is important in that it is rich in feeling and show great depth of insight. Aside from an entertainment value, the author's just comments on men and things are also apt often unconventional. There is an occasional note of bitterness but Dr. Zinsser neither loses sight of the fun of life nor does he minimize its difficulties.

A lighter vein comes from the pen of Angella Thirkell in "Before Lunch," another book causing much comment. This has an English rural community where the important event of the year is still the annual agricultural show as its background. It is a picture of leisurely country living in a society in Europe just recently disrupted. Miss Thirkell is witty and often ironic but throughout her book there is a humorous charm and kindly portrayal of character.

These are only two of many recent publications which may be had at the Monroe Public Library. The library is well stocked with current literature as well as material on any subject desired. A list of Louisiana books is presented:

"Cawn Ponc and Pet Likker," by Blanche G. Oliver; "Lafitte, the Pirate," by Lyle Saxon; "Strange True Stories of Louisiana," by George W. Cable; "Fantastics and Other Fancies," by Lafcadio Hearn; "Soldier of Good Fortune," an historical novel by Ruth Cross; "The Ursulines in New Orleans," 1727-1925; "Bayou Folk," by Kate Chopin; "Old Creole Days," a story of Creole life by George W. Cable; "Birds of America," by J. J. Mrs. Lucius Blake Is Honored at Ruston

Mondays afternoon Mrs. Lucius W. Blake, recent bride, was honored at a lovely tea given by Misses Loraine and Desie D. Ponder in their home on South Trenton street in Ruston.

Receiving the door was Miss Loraine Ponder, who presented her guests to the guest of honor, Mrs. Blake, and Mrs. W. H. Dennis, mother of Mrs. Blake, and Miss Eleona Brinsmade, both of Monroe.

The reception rooms were attractively decorated with numerous bouquets of summer flowers. The serving table, covered with a handsome lace cloth was centered with a bowl of specimen yellow marigolds. Miss Desie D. Ponder presided at the crystal punch bowl. She was assisted in the dining room courtesies by Miss Sarah Ann Baskin.

A large number of guests called between the appointed hours of four and six o'clock.

Miss McKoin's Guests Honored at Parties

Miss Betty Reily entertained in honor of Miss Dean McKoin's three attractive guests with luncheon at the Lotus Club. A summer luncheon was served to the honorees, Misses Elizabeth Fornan, Helen Phillips, Gertrude White and to Miss Dean McKoin and Sara Virginia Craig.

Mrs. Taylor was a member of the senior class at Jefferson High School. Mr. Taylor attended Northeast Junior College in Monroe and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston.

Attending the bride were Mrs. V. V. Keasler, Jr., and Miss Mary Biggs. Mr. V. V. Keasler, Jr., and Mr. George Neilson acted as groomsman to Mr. Taylor.

SECRET WEAPON SNARES RAIDERS

'Mechanical Bird Dog' Enables British To Trap Nazi Planes

By Robert Bunnell
LONDON, Aug. 31.—(P)—The defenders of Britain are using a sort of 'mechanical bird dog' to hunt down German night raiders.

After holding up this dispatch for more than 24 hours, the British censor permitted disclosure for the first time today that 'pointing' is done not only by searchlights but by an ingenious range-and-course predictor which the British call a "sausage machine," and by other equipment of a nature kept closely secret.

It works something like this:

With the secret devices (apparently listening apparatus), anti-aircraft gun crews determine the position and direction of the approaching raider. They feed this data into the "sausage machine," which turns out a series of positions for the plane in the immediate split-second future.

These positions then are subjected to heavy fire from 3, 37, and 4.5-inch anti-aircraft batteries.

Searchlights also cover these spots, to try to catch the raider in the beam for the benefit both of ground gunners and defending fighter planes.

The crews say that once an enemy is caught in the glare, it is relatively easy to hold him in the light of first one beam and then another until the anti-aircraft guns or fighter pilots can catch up.

The difficulty is to catch the raider in the first place, since sound travels slowly in relation to the speed of planes.

Nevertheless, military circles credit the anti-aircraft guns with destroying about 100 Germans in the past month. The record is much better than in the World War, when gunners fired an average of 5,000 rounds for each plane brought down.

In addition to the course-plotting device, another defense against night raiders is to throw up a "curtain" barrage between the planes and their objectives.

In all this work, close cooperation is necessary among observers, searchlight crews, anti-aircraft gunners and defense planes.

Monroe Youth Realizes Ambition His Grandmother Wished To Gain

Young Genius Designs Homes, Plans To Study Architectural Work

By Robert Bunnell
LONDON, Aug. 31.—(P)—The defenders of Britain are using a sort of 'mechanical bird dog' to hunt down German night raiders.

It began several years ago in Brockton, a little town up in New England, where a little old lady sat at her desk drawing plans for homes which she was to build in that section.

Since the time when this lady was a young girl, she had desired to become an architect and a builder and it was only in the late years of her life that fate had willed her the favor.

As she worked and planned she was happy for, at least, she had found her place in the world. But ever so often a troubling thought passed through her mind as she passed her sixtieth birthday. She had no one to follow in her footsteps; no one to carry on her work in the world.

This happy—and yet unhappy—person was one of many mothers who have had life-long ambitions they were never able to fill; which they hoped to see filled by their children. This one had hoped to see her son carry her ideals into the world, but after a year of study, he found business administration far more to his liking than designing and building.

The years passed by and more and more the demand for her designs grew and with it grew her longing to find someone to carry on.

Fate, it seemed, decided to step in and take a hand. It was on a visit to his son's home that the little old gray-haired lady found her successor.

It was then that she found her two-year-old grandson, who like many other children of the age, spent his time drawing and scratching things on the household articles. His drawings were similar to those of any child of two, but his grandmother saw nothing that arrested her attention. Perhaps she had only hope, or perhaps she saw evidence of her talent and ability in the child. Nevertheless, she straightfor set to work planning for his future, hoping that she might succeed before death called.

Her efforts were not unfailing, for as a year or so fled by, the boy entered kindergarten and there he astounded his teacher by drawing houses of intricate design while those about him were content with box-like affairs.

For about four years grandmother and grandson were together, the lad working harder and becoming more attached to the little old lady every day.

It so happened that about this time it became necessary for the boy's family to leave New England and grandmother and come to Monroe. Peter Charles Crandall, the lad, brought his many books on architecture and his erection equipment, much of which was technical and advanced, given him by his grandmother to continue his study of architecture.

Each winter the grandmother, Mrs. Adele Crandall, came to Monroe to visit the C. K. Crandalls and her grandson, and in the summer months Peter went back to New England, always continuing his work and study of architecture.

A time passed on and the lad reached the important age of 12, he began to show great promise as an architect and began to build model houses and create his own designs of building. In addition he decided on his own accord to study music and art. His family was proud of him, but more so was his grandmother, who now lived only for her grandson.

About a year later death called grandmother, leaving Peter on his own.

Her efforts were not in vain, the little old lady was positive before her death, for she knew that she had fulfilled her mission and that her grandson would carry on and become the great designer and builder she knew he would be.

Her death was a terrible blow to the lad, his parents said, for during the decade that the two had worked and planned together he had become most fond of his grandmother, perhaps even worshiping her. Even today the young architect speaks of his associations with his grandmother in low tones, his head slightly bowed in reverence.

Persons passing the attractive Crandall home in the northern section of Monroe are apt to see a small and slightly built boy working about the many flowers or perhaps mowing the lawn; a boy young in years but advanced in the field of architecture. Visitors who call at the home often find the young builder in his room working on his life's work.

Not all of the lad's time is spent in building and working about the house. He finds time to practice his piano lessons and his art lessons. In addition Peter is preparing to join the clarinet section of the Neville High School Band this fall. A busy young man is he, forever striving toward his goal.

A visitor calling at the Crandall home on one occasion, it is told, found the lad busy on a new house. Looking closer the visitor discovered it to be an exact duplicate model of her own. Somewhat surprised, the lady looked about the room and saw several models of homes familiar to her, each exact in every infinite detail. Here and there among the collection were to be seen models of homes and buildings which the young architect declared were of his own design. Also included in the collection was an oil derrick with pumping equipment and house, similar to those seen in oil fields. These are some of the things that Peter has built; his drawings and designs are numerous.

In the duplicate models Peter has included every feature of the original, even to the inside doors and closets, each in its exact position. There is window for window, and in some the walls are papered as in the original. Minor details such as window boxes for flowers and flower beds about the doorsteps are to be added.

A startling fact in this amazing efforts of the young builder is that his materials for building are pieces of pasteboard cut from shoe boxes and pasted together. May it be specifically pointed out that accuracy in building and neatness are predominating in the construction of these models.

The woodwork balsa is used and for the windows isinglass. The lawn is made of flour dough and colored a natural green with cake coloring from his mother's pantry. After every detail has been worked in, the houses are ready for painting. Some times they are of their original color, other times Peter uses his own color combinations.

In construction of his models the lad uses only a razor blade and some glue. Architectural designs which have been featured in his work are the colonial, the Early American, the Modern English and the old fashioned house, as Peter refers to it.

When the Crandall family decided to build their new home they drew their own plans with Peter assisting. When the plans were accepted by the chief architect and the building started, the family had considerable difficulties in getting the boy away from the construction long enough to attend to anything else.

"Pete had to be right on the scene and see that everything was done to perfection," his mother said.

When questioned, the promising young architect says that he plans to enter Pennsylvania University and study architecture there, after he finishes high school here.

His little sister, Ann, 10, doesn't like to build houses. In fact, she tries to tear them down as fast as they are built, according to Peter.

But despite his little sister, the young genius continues to build and prepare for a great career in the architectural field, doing the things that his grandmother dreamed of doing.

FIVE ARRESTED ON CHARGES HERE

Two white men and one negro were released on bond and two other white men are being held in jail for bond defaults. Sheriff Milton Coverdale announced Saturday following the arrests.

E. C. Bryant, 33, a white man, is being held in jail on a warrant and also for disturbing the peace, the sheriff said. Bond for the peace warrant is $500 and for the disturbing the peace, $100, according to the sheriff. R. W. Reid, about 45, a white man, charged with violating the barber law, is in jail on default of $150 bond, the sheriff said.

Sheriff Coverdale said that Bill Skipper, 43, and son, Barney, white men, were released on a peace bond of $150. Bond for the two was sworn off by Captain DuPre.

Robert Dunn, 28, a negro, was also free on $150 bond following an arrest on a charge of cruelty to animals, according to the sheriff's report.

MILITARY HANDBOOK PREPARED BY ARMY

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(P)—The war department is putting out a dictionary—a handbook of military terms and their equivalents in German, French, Spanish, Italian, Portuguese and Russian.

The project is being undertaken jointly by the army's military intelligence division (G-2) and the WPA. It is intended to keep our armies and services up to date on foreign developments in strategy, tactics, techniques and materials," said Major Arthur Vollmer, project director.

Major Vollmer said the handbook would serve not only as an aid in the interrogation of military prisoners, but also in the deciphering and decoding of captured documents, radiograms, enemy newspapers and periodicals."

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN FRUSTRATED

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 31.—(P)—What is believed to have been a deliberate attempt to wreck a Texas and Pacific train was frustrated here late Friday when Charles Gross, special agent for the road, discovered an obstruction on the tracks, according to a report to the sheriff's office.

Deputy Sheriff Miles J. Byrne and Gordon Garr said that Gross reported he had found a number of cross ties and pieces of asphalt piled in the center of the track near the Mansfield road on the city outskirts. Three white men and two negroes were reported to have been seen hurriedly leaving the scene.

HOME IS DAMAGED BY FLAMES HERE

She Came From Below The Border, In Mexico, And Cost $20

This is the story of Jo-Jo the squirrel who lives in a cage across the street from the Central Fire Station, and who is quite a prominent figure here on Monroe.

For Jo-Jo is no ordinary squirrel. She is pure black, and it is said of her that she came from below the border in Mexico.

Her past is rather obscure, but it seems that she took to sea with a sailor some years ago and didn't become a landlubber again until she met J. Noble White. Jo-Jo became attached to her new master who brought her all the way from San Diego to Monroe. San Diego was where Jo-Jo said good-bye to her sailor friend. Here in Monroe the tallie little black, sleek-haired squirrel took up with Captain Tom Dupree of the Monroe Fire Department.

This was about five years ago, and Jo-Jo, a bit weary of roaming around, soon mended her ways, settled down, and soon was content to have Captain Dupree provide for her.

She first lived in the firehouse where she made friends with all of the firemen. And Captain Dupree, ample provider that he is, brought her a female playmate before a year had passed.

However, Jo-Jo soon yearned for the outdoors, as was evidenced by her constant barking and chattering, so the captain moved Jo-Jo, her friend and the cage, to a yard across the street to live.

Friends began to bring Captain Dupree more squirrels, but they were fox and gray squirrels, and not nearly so aristocratic and refined as Jo-Jo with her sleek black fur. They resented Jo-Jo's presence and she resented theirs. Jo-Jo had one friend, who was only a fox squirrel, but they had practically grown up together. That is probably why they got along.

Captain Dupree, not wanting to get rid of the squirrel's friends so kindly gave him, built a large cage in the yard across the street from the fire station, and here he put his nine other pecan-eaters. Henceforth there were no more squabbles. The larger cage was finely equipped as Jo-Jo's and her friend's. It contained a wired-in wheel for the squirrels to exercise in, nail kegs with holes in the bottom for their homes, and glass bowls removed from light meters for drinking water.

But Jo-Jo wasn't a bit jealous. She was too well-bred and was only glad that they too had a fine home. She had wanted to make friends before, but they just wouldn't accept her.

"Jo-Jo was so tame," Captain Dupree said, "that we used to let her run up and play in the branches of the big tree in the yard across the street, and when we wanted to place her back in her cage, we would just say, 'Come on Jo-Jo,' and she would come down out of the tree."

"All the kids in the neighborhood came around, and we let them play with Jo-Jo. They have a big time."

Providing food for Jo-Jo and the other squirrels is simple. "We just out pecans in the cages every three or four days, and what they don't eat they store in their nests," the captain said.

But Jo-Jo is getting old now.

Her glossy black fur has lost some of its brilliance, and her hair is streaked with silver. Yet she is still active, and she can climb around almost as well as any younger squirrel.

If Jo-Jo could talk, she would no doubt whisper that she had cost her original purchaser the sum of $20. And that's no drop in the bucket for a squirrel, even a pure black squirrel, from Mexico.

Miss Hudson And Henry Biedenharn, Jr., Married At Grace Church Friday

Members Of Prominent Families Married Here

Reception At Virginia Hotel Follows Beautiful Ceremony; Couple On Honeymoon Trip To Cuba

The marriage of Miss Doll Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson, and Mr. Henry Biedenharn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, was solemnized Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Grace Episcopal church with Reverend E. F. Hayward officiating. An all white theme was carried out in the floral decoration at the altar and throughout the church. Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, accompanied at the organ by Mr. R. C. Frisbie, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony.

Miss Hudson's wedding gown was of English net over white satin with a formal veil of handsome princess lace over rose point illusion. She carried a bouquet of orchids and violets. For something old she wore her grandmother's diamond.

Attending the bride were Miss Jean Terzia, maid of honor, Misses Gloria Frances Major, Martha Wilton McHenry, Elizabeth Hough, Sally Peck, Mesdames Haydn Cutler and Herbert Norwood. The maids were attired in white silk net over taffeta caught with velvet bows. Bouquets of old-fashioned flowers in pink and blue relieved the all-white note. Matching caps completed the costumes.

Attending Mr. Biedenharn were Mr. Kurt Touchstone as best man and Messrs. Tommy Downes, John Sherrouse, Fred Hudson III, Simon Hodge, Barry Stubbs and Walter Jacobs. Master Haydn Cutler was ring bearer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Murray Hudson.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception at the Virginia Hotel on the roof garden. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Jr., Miss Jean Terzia, Mrs. Haydn Cutler, Mrs. Herbert Norwood, Misses Gloria Frances Major, Martha Wilton McHenry, Elizabeth Hough and Sally Peck.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Murray Hudson, chose a gown of silver and white lace and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Sr., wore platinum net embroidered in silver over satin.

At the bride's table, a creation in white with garlands of pastel flowers surrounding the handsome wedding cake, the formal note prevailed. Decorative effect on the roof garden was achieved with pastel flowers and bamboo.

Mrs. Biedenharn is a graduate of Abbot Academy in Andover, Mass., and spent two years at Wellesley College in Wellesley, Mass. Mr. Biedenharn is a graduate of Culver Military School, Culver, Ind., and spent two years at the University of Virginia. He is a member of Chi Phi fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Biedenharn left soon after the reception for a visit of several weeks in Havana, Cuba. Returning, they will be at home in Monroe.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. E. E. Matteson, Wec-hawken, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Scott and Mrs. F. L. Getsinger, New Orleans; Miss Anne Scott, Hazlehurst, Miss.; Dr. and Mrs. Haydn Cutler, Houston, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Norwood, Franklin, La.

Mrs. Lassiter Feted On Eve Of Departure

Mrs. Stanley Blower honored Mrs. Albin Lassiter on Wednesday morning at her home in Fowler with a farewell party. Mr. and Mrs. Lassiter and family will make their future home in Dallas, Tex.

The reception rooms and porch of the Blower home were bright with late summer flowers in which bouquets, pink and white, predominated.

A delicious confection course was served to guests calling between 10:30 a.m. and noon. They were Mesdames Fred Stroud, Ed Loham, Ed Apperson, Pete McVay, Tom Davis, T. H. Scott, Wesley Shafte, Grayson Guthrie, J. P. Brown, Cecil Jarrell, Allen Kimball, E. Marchman, Tom Sandridge, Milling Bernstein, Earl Stovall, Wayne Reid, Howard Martin, W. L. Lawrence, Dan Bivins, Al Huey and Ned Leigh. Assisting the hostess was the maid of honor. Following the reception courtesies were Mrs. Ed Apperson, Mrs. Wayne Reid and Mrs. Pete McVay.

Mrs. Lassiter has been much feted during the last several weeks prior to her departure from the city. Notable among these affairs have been Mrs. W. T. Davis' bridge and shower, dinner with Mr. and Mrs. P. N. Edwards, Coca-Cola hour with Mrs. Grayson Guthrie as hostess, tea with Mrs. R. O. Miller and Mrs. Earl Stovall, co-hostesses, Mrs. Kennedy Abington's bridge party, Mrs. Grayson Guthrie, Jr., as hostess at a conversational hour, bridge with Miss Elethia Edwards and the luncheon planned by Mrs. T. H. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Black of Jonesboro announce the marriage of their daughter, Marjory, and Mr. Adrian Peevy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Peevy on Saturday, August 24, with Justice J. M. Shows officiating.

Plans Being Made For T-B Conference Here

The office of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association is quite busy these days making plans for the Southern Tuberculosis Conference which meets here in Monroe on October 21-23. This will be the first time the conference has met in Louisiana.

The conference will bring prominent physicians and tuberculosis workers from various sections of the country. There are meetings planned for the medical men, also a non-medical section for tuberculosis workers and other interested persons. The non-medical section will be open to the public, giving all an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the various health problems confronting the public.

Captain G. B. Cooley, president of Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association, will serve as honorary general chairman, and Mr. Willard Rodriguez has been selected as chairman on local arrangements and with the help of his committee we see that all guests are properly entertained at all times.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, chairman for the banquet, has started making plans for a very elaborate affair at which many distinguished speakers will be heard. The address of welcome will be extended by Governor Sam H. Jones.

Other committees consist of Mrs. Gordon Wright, chairman for the luncheons; James A. Noe, chairman of the boat ride up the Ouachita river, with Mrs. Irving J. Wolff and her committee ready to serve tea at the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium.

The shops are simply gorgeous with winter clothes, more beautiful than ever it seems. In one shop a window display showed a hat valued at $4,000.00. The display attracted crowds of women.

Mrs. D. Aubrey Haas, chairman of souvenirs, will see that each guest receives a token of remembrance.

Gordon Cummings, chairman of transportation, will see that at all times the guest will be assured of transportation to any place they may wish to go.

Mrs. D. Tisdale will see that the doctors' wives and others who may not desire to attend the meetings will have a chance to meet some Monroe ladies.

Mrs. T. L. Morris will assist the Chamber of Commerce in seeing that each person registers. There will be no fee for registration.

Vacationer In East Describes Attractions

Miss Eve Bradford, who has been vacationing in New York City and will return on September 2, writes us from New York:

"This has been a wonderful vacation for me with cool weather making the whole set-up just perfect."

"My visit in Washington was a never-to-be-forgotten one. I, of course, visited the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington and left with a lump in my throat. The solemnity and nobility characterizing this tomb deeply impresses the average visitor. The Lincoln monument is another impressive sight. One seems to feel an actual, living presence."

"I was privileged to attend a session in the House of Representatives, and a session in the Senate."

"New York looks bigger than ever to me and has taken on a foreign atmosphere. Everywhere one goes people are talking in a foreign language. Most conspicuous of all are the Britishers. I rode on a Fifth Avenue bus one evening and just behind me was a party of English people. They talked loudly about conditions over there and compared everything they saw with life in England."

"I am planning to attend a Major Bowes broadcast tonight."

"The trip to the World's Fair was a revelation. It is so vast that at first I was bewildered."

"The day was simply perfect—like a day in early October. The flags of all the nations in the court of nations were waving in the breeze and the deep-toned chimes from the Florida tower could be heard in every section of the fair."

"I found the Switzerland exhibit lovely and quaint. The garden was built on the side of snow-covered Alps and beautiful girls in peasant costumes waited on tables. I tried to taste all the food in the different villages but only a gourmet could accomplish such a task. After goulash in the Hungarian village, rice cakes and tea in Japan, and highly seasoned dishes in the French village, my digestive powers rebelled."

Miss Clara Nelson And Russell Terry Are Wed

The wedding of Miss Clara Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nelson of Ruston, and Mr. Russell Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Terry, took place on Monday, August 24, at 8 o'clock in the evening at Trinity Methodist Church in Ruston. Rev. Guy M. Hicks performed the simple ring ceremony in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives.

The church was decked out in a refreshing theme of pink and white. Long baskets along the aisle contained pink carnation roses, carnations and feverfew, while on either side were placed tall standards of white lilies, white gladioli, celosia and pink rose.

A presynthetic concert was played by Mrs. S. L. White on the organ whose rendition was "Call Me Thine Own," and then she accompanied Mr. Harvey Nelson, violinist.

Miss Theta Walker was the bride's attendant. She wore a costume suit of marine blue wool, with a full skirt and lace accessories. Her bodice was of Peruvian fiber and Talisman roses.

Mr. Terry was his brother's attendant.

The bride's father gave her a ring. She wore a costume suit of sailor blue with brown squirrel trim. Her hat was of the same shade of blue and her accessories were of navy Talisman roses and lilies of the valley.

For something old, she wore an antique gold pen which had belonged to her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry left immediately after the ceremony for a 10-day wedding trip to Colorado and other points. After September 1 they will be at home in Atlanta, Ga., where Mr. Terry is principal of the high school.

The bride is a graduate of Louisiana Tech, where she was a member of Theta Upsilon sorority, and was a member of the Sikes High School faculty last year.

Mr. Terry attended Louisiana Tech and received his master's degree at L. S. U.

Blitz-Year Ends; Heavy Burden On U. S.

Can it be only a year ago that the world's peace machinery thudded to complete breakdown, and war spread like an ugly blot over the face of Europe? Can a single year have so changed the world?

Yes, only a year. On September 1, 1939, Hitler's legions crossed the border into Poland. On the 3rd Britain and France declared war, the effort to make Hitler draw back having proved useless. On the 10th Canada went in.

So short a time ago, and yet so long. We almost forgot the spark that set it off. It was the argument over Danzig and the Polish corridor, a not insoluble problem which the slightest good will would have peacefully settled. The cause lay deeper, but the immediate spark was Danzig and the corridor.

Within a month Poland lay prostrate. Within two months the United States had repealed the embargo on arms that had been designed to keep war aloof. Within three months Russia had attacked Finland, and within three more had overpowered her. The eighth month saw Norway and Denmark invaded and conquered. The ninth saw Belgium, Luxembourg, and the Netherlands invaded; the 10th saw the surrender of France and Italy's entrance into the war. The 11th month saw Russian seizure of the three Baltic states, and the final month of the year found England herself at death grips in defense of the island empire.

The same 12 months have seen the United States resolutely to arming itself and to building a water-tight dike of defense around the New World. Sparks of war economy and psychology have leaped the ocean and burn brightly in the United States despite its unshaken resolution to keep clear of the European holocaust.

Perhaps never in history have such tremendous changes come in a single year. The tempo of human affairs has speeded up almost beyond understanding or endurance.

We do not know what another year will bring. But we know it is no longer possible merely to float on these tremendous tides.

Defense against dynamic forces must be dynamic. We have liberty to preserve, and a free way of life and living; so we must be strong. We have a future to build, the gateways to a brave new world to open; so we must be wise.

DRAFT EXEMPTIONS

Whether Congress passes the conscription act now or decides to wait until after the polls have closed in November before making a military draft in peace time the law of the land, there are certain to be many draft exemptions under the terms of any statute Congress contrives. These exemptions will be more numerous if the bill should go through before election.

Already certain groups, sensing this, are taking steps to gain the privilege which Congress can confer. Among these are conscientious objectors and ecclesiastic students. Last week the New York State Conference of Policemen, 45,000 strong, met in New York City, determined that they could be of more service to society on their beats than in the trenches and sent a committee down to Washington to see that they are not included in the draft.

It is almost a sure shot that they will be exempted if the law is passed now; that they will not be if a draft enactment comes later in the year.

PARADISE GOING A-BEGGING

Remember the people who were always wanting to just give up, go away to island Tahiti, and "get away from it all!"

They, too, can lay aside their dreams for the period of the emergency. For in Tahiti, lazy dreamland of the South Pacific, all is not well. So reports H. E. Pippin, Matson Steamship line executive, just back from a South Seas excursion.

Tahiti, it seems, was French. Somehow, we never thought of that. Island paradises and national sovereignty didn't seem to go together. But France fell. Tahiti, whose principal export is copra, lost her market. French money is regarded as worthless. American dollars are the object of a scramble.

So into even this Eden has come the serpent.

FOREVER IS A LONG TIME

"The swastika," said Hans Frank, "will fly over this land forever."

Frank is the German governor of conquered Poland. He means that the German campaign was a naked conquest, and that Poland is now absorbed into Germany; that Poland has ceased to exist at all.

It is not given to us to read the future. All we can do is to guess in the dim light of reflections from the past. Poland has ceased to exist before. It has been wiped from the map of Europe as a child expunges thin lines on a slate.

Poland vanished, but the Poles remained. They never became Austrians, or Russians. Will they ever become Germans? Surely Herr Hitler's own racial ideas do not argue that they will.

Forever, Herr Frank, is a long time.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

While Bruce Catton vacations, other members of the NEA staff pinch-hit for him.

By Milton Brummer
(NEA Service Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Senator Wheeler's revelation that British Sir George Paish told him Sir George got America into the last war and was going to get him into this one, has focused new attention on the propaganda situation.

The foreign-agent register at the State Department reveals, of course, only those agents who have been candid enough to set down in accordance with law the fact that they are representing a foreign country.

But it is interesting to note that of some 400 now registered, by far the largest number, 104, represent the United Kingdom.

Japan has 49; Spain, 18; Russia, 17; Germany, 17; and so on. There is some wondering about the status of those registered to countries whose present status is now in doubt: France, 35; Holland, 14; Norway, 10; Denmark, 9; Hungary, 19; Czechoslovakia, 7; Belgium, 2; Poland, 10, and so on.

Just what sort of activities these people are conducting, and on whose behalf, it is hard to say.

Sir George Paish, who has seen fit to lobby among American senators on American foreign policy, does not represent his government, Britain asserts, and Sir George has not seen fit to register as a foreign agent.

John Q. Citizen reads in his paper that the State Department is worried over the chance that, with Holland under the heel of Hitler, Japan may seize the favorable moment to grab the Dutch East Indies. John may wonder what it has to do with America, seeing the islands are such a minor market for American goods and so very far away.

John Q. may not know it, but some of the things he uses most often come—in fact, at least—from the Dutch East Indies.

The last figures issued on this by the Department of Commerce are for 1938. America imported from the Dutch East Indies 4,245,000 pounds of rattan, 1,156,000 pounds of citronella oil, and 1,343,000 pounds of cinchona bark from which quinine is produced.

Crude rubber is one of the most important of all American imports. We imported 223,699,000 pounds from the islands, this being 26.2 per cent of the total for America.

Unless you are in certain lines of business you probably never heard of kapok and jelutong. Kapok is the thing mattresses, pillows and cushions are often stuffed with, and 80 per cent comes from these Indies.

Jelutong is mixed with chicle in the making of chewing gum. More than one-third comes from the Indies.

Many a grocer sells a blended coffee which is called a mixture of Mocha and Java.

Java is from the Dutch Indies to the tune of 18,000,000 pounds. The Dutch East Indies supply one-quarter of the tea drunk in America, ranking next to Ceylon and ahead of India and Japan.

The Indies have almost a monopoly in pepper used in America, supplying 49,000,000 pounds out of 52,000,000. Nutmeg and mace also come largely from there. The Indies supply almost all the tapioca.

Finally, the Indies sent America 7,370,000 straw hats in 1938.

Southern Artists' Works On Exhibit At Northeast Junior College September 15

Organization Show Of Paintings On Display

Monroe Art Association Sponsors Outstanding Exhibit Of Southern States Art League

Chosen from the Twentieth Annual Exhibition of the Southern States Art League, at the Mint Museum of Art, Charlotte, N. C., last April, the Fifteenth Circuit Fine Arts Council has chosen a tour of the southern states which will last until next spring. It travel to several cities, oil paintings, water colors, and the graphic arts being cut out separately. The organization's show of oil paintings will be shown September 15-22 at the Northeast Junior College, Monroe, by the Monroe Art Association.

The exhibition includes works by such well-known artists as John Steuart Eaton, George Luks, George Bellows, and others. It is the first time the Southern States Art League has been represented by its president, Mrs. L. P. Johnson, in the meeting of Vice Presidents, Federal and State, to be held at the W. T. Hines House in Washington, D. C., on September 15-16.

The exhibition includes every type of painting, genre paintings, still life, and figure studies. In addition to the usual fine work of the more famous masters, it also includes many modern, original, and unique pieces. Some of the younger artists entering are living in the north or west. Many of the more typical southern scenes and subjects to be seen include such pictures as "The Negro Cabin," by Reuben Gambrill, one of the paintings to be on display at Northeast Junior College in the exhibit of the Southern States Art League.

Degado Museum, New Orleans, and the Louisiana State Art League, are also showing a portion of their first prize oil paintings of the Southern States Art League. He is an active member of the association and represents the Texas section in Duluth, Minn., in the National Art School, and in the W. T. Hines House in Washington, D. C., in the National Museum in Washington, D. C., and in the Delgado Museum.

Other studios were not far away from the portraits in the Twentieth Annual Exhibition, and in this case, the second of the year, Old Joe, the work of Edward S. Shuster, president of the league. He studied in the Corcoran Art School in Washington, D. C., and in Paris, and his various summer art schools has traveled widely, and was a regular in several exhibitions. He is an active member of such organizations as the Washington Arts Club, Atlanta Art Association, Association of Georgia Artists, and has painted portraits of noted Southerners, for Baylor University in Texas, Mercer University, Georgia, and other Southern in United.

"Brown Girl" is by Aileen Albee, young painter of Sarasota, Fla. A native of Yorkshire, England, she is a graduate and Associate of the Ontario College of Art, and in the Ringling School of Art in Sarasota. She has exhibited in the National Exhibition of Fine Arts in Canada, and is a member of the Art Gallery of Toronto and the Sarasota Art Association.

Clarence A. Stagg, a former exhibitor who returns this year with a landscape, "Pigeon Forge, Tennessee," has won awards in his home town, Nashville, and in exhibits of the Southern States Art League, has exhibited in New York and in Memphis, and his portraits are as notable as his landscapes.

Several artists are represented this year who have never before been chosen for the circuit, though they have been members for a longer or shorter time. Among these is Gladys G. Fort of Gaffney, S. C., a native of that state who has studied in New York, Philadelphia, and Paris under Luis Mora, Emil Carlsen, and Lucien Simon. She has exhibited in Philadelphia and New York. Her "Share Crop Woman" attracted attention by the tense tragedy of its expression. Margaret Ellen Harper of Lenox, N. C., is another of these born in Lenox, she studied under Thornton Oakley in Philadelphia, and Allen Tucker in the Art Students' League in New York. She has exhibited in both cities, in Academy shows. "Valle Crucis No. 1" is the title of her landscape.

Mary Paul Glenn of Birmingham, Ala., who calls her painting "Thanks," is a native of Georgia, and studied at the University of Georgia under Lamar Dodd, is a member of Kappa Phi, and the Association of Georgia Artists, and is represented in the permanent collection of the University of Georgia. "It Rained That Night," a tempera painting by Marion Lee Long, of Louisville, Ky., was chosen last spring for the New York World's Fair. Miss Long has also won some recent awards in Louisville exhibitions. She was a pupil of Fayette Barnum, C. W. Hawthorne, and A. Archipenko.

"Yellow Hill" in the Gallery and "Negro Cabin" in the Organization shows are by Reuben Gambrill, a native of Tulsa, Okla., who, after studying in Columbia, S. C., under May Marshall and Katherine Heyward, studied in the University of Georgia under Lamar Dodd. He won honorable mention in the Federal Mural exhibition held in the Corcoran Art gallery in Washington, D. C., and was awarded the commission to execute a mural for the Rockmart, Ga., post office.

"Villa Santiago Chica," by Patti R. East, is one of the paintings to be on display at Northeast Junior College in the exhibit of the Southern States Art League.

St. Joseph Couple Observes Anniversary

The annual visit of Mrs. N. J. Fullerton of Louisville with her granddaughter, Mrs. Harry A. Cobb, at Clark's was the occasion for a family reunion at a reception to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. There was the third golden wedding anniversary in this immediate family. Guests on this occasion were Mrs. and Mr. Albert Gay Boudrant; Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand Stevens of St. Joseph; and Uriah Conner of Baton Rouge.

A golden anniversary was achieved with the help of indulgence, merriment, familiar roads and street scenes in city or village. The visits of the Southerners through these artists and tell what the South is like today at the painter of older sets.

By sending these samples of work, one of the organization's desire of seeing them, the League offers an opportunity to make widely scattered scenes of both large and small, of learning at first hand what achievements in painting or in life have been produced by artists of southern birth or residence during the past year.

The League has its headquarters in New Orleans, and Miss Ethel Huston is secretary-treasurer. The twenty-first annual exhibition of the League will be held in the Louisiana State Exhibit building, Shreveport, next April.

Five of the artists represented in this group are also represented in the other group of oil paintings sent out by the League this season. Two of these are former prize-winners, and frequent exhibitors in the past circuits, while three are comparative newcomers, Mario A. Hull and Karl Wolfe of Jackson, Miss., both of whom won honorable mention on the paintings which were chosen for the Gallery show, "Sharecroppers" by Mrs. Hull and "Monday Morning" by Mr. Wolfe—have won prizes more than once in annual exhibitions of the League, as well as elsewhere, and each is a successful painter of portraits, flowers, and landscapes. Mrs. Hull was represented in the New York and San Francisco World's fairs, in the latter by the very same "Sharecroppers" mentioned above; and Mr. Wolfe—in the New York exposition He won the Parthenon medal in 1935 and the Benjamin prize in 1937, has had one-man shows in the Delgado Museum, and has had work in the Corcoran Biennial Exhibition in Washington, D. C., and in the Pennsylvania academy, "Gang Busters" represents him in the Organized show, and "Sand and Sea" is Mrs. Hull's contribution.

Mildren Nungester has won honors within and without her home state, Born in Ohio, she lives in Decatur, Ala., studied under J. K. Fitzpatrick, is a member of the Alabama Art League, and is represented in Leila Cantwell Setton Hall, Decatur, she has "The Ironer" in the Gallery show, and "Cotton Cabins" in the Organization show.

"Yellow Hill" in the Gallery and "Negro Cabin" in the Organization shows are by Reuben Gambrill, a native of Tulsa, Okla., who, after studying in Columbia, S. C., under May Marshall and Katherine Heyward, studied in the University of Georgia under Lamar Dodd. He won honorable mention in the Federal Mural exhibition held in the Corcoran Art gallery in Washington, D. C., and was awarded the commission to execute a mural for the Rockmart, Ga., post office.

Program For Women's Club Is Announced

The Women's Department club executive board of Ruston met for its first session with Mrs. Addison Thompson, president, conducting the meeting. Mrs. Watt Hadley, chairman of the program and lecture committee, announced the following schedule of the monthly programs of the club for 1940-41.

October: Amos W. Ford of Louisiana Tech, authority on world affairs, will speak on "The forthcoming Presidential Election." To this program, members of the club may bring one guest. The literature division of the Fine Arts department is sponsoring the program under the chairmanship of Mrs. Morris Kirkland.

November: Dr. Kayser, of Louisiana Normal college, will talk on "Arcady." This will be a lecture with moving pictures, and is sponsored by the program and lecture committee.

December: The Little Theater division will present "First Lady." This division is under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. A. McCoy, to be produced by the Little Theater department.

January: John Mike Kavanaugh, Louisiana Tech, will be presented by the program and lecture committee in a lecture on Mexico.

February: Mrs. Isabelle Liebers, Shreveport, will talk on Art. She will be presented by the Fine Arts department, Art division of which Mrs. J. S. McBride is chairman.

March: Drew Pearson, famous news commentator, will present the major program of the year when he is presented in a lecture on March 21. This affair has been planned by the program and lecture committee.

April: The Child Study division of the American Home department will present an outstanding speaker on child psychology. The speaker has not been selected as yet. Mrs. J. A. Shealy is chairman of this division.

May: The American Home department headed by Miss Atlanta Meadows will have charge of the program for this month.

Mrs. A. M. Ponder, hospitality chairman, announced that 12 teas would be given during the year at which all club members will serve as hostesses. Mrs. Addison Thompson, chairman of the music division, announced that two musical Sunday afternoons will be presented. The Little Theater department will present "First Lady" with an all-department club cast and will present two one-act plays, and a children's play called "Stolen Princess."

The Child Study department will hold its second annual children's party and also plan a study course for members of the department on parent's and children's problems.

Mrs. Russell's Poem Is Widely Acclaimed

Mrs. James M. Russell of this city will be a guest at the Poets' Shrine of the Raven, San Antonio, Tex., Tuesday, September 3. Mrs. Russell received word last week that her poem, "Aim at the Sun," had won first place in a nation-wide poetry contest conducted by Maud C. Schlipin, well known publisher and Minnesota poet.

In a letter notifying Mrs. Russell of the award, Mrs. Schlipin wrote that the poem was magnificent and had won first place because of its strength, beauty and vision.

A plaque engraved with Mrs. Russell's poem will be hung in the library room, "Shrine of the Raven," at San Antonio.

Her poem follows:

AIM AT THE SUN

(Widow to Her Boy)

Aim at the Sun!
For now again the earth is only a gutter, bubbling red with the blood of men,
And the nights are strafed with green-eyed monsters
Even as when I watched them so long ago eviserate the moon and cut the points from stars,
Then drop infernos to the earth
Where your father fell in a yellow trench an hour before you were born . . .

Down in a gutter with a thousand others while the battle of wasted wits waged on . . .

Then to God's holy pulpits went the polished men to preach
That war would save His Ordered World, avenge His death upon the Cross—
That the sun would shine on earth again,

And robe mankind in the raiment of Everlasting Peace,

An unshamed garment for everyone . . .

But the robes are rent!
The thread of loyalty has rotted on the spool of trust
And the stitches fail to mend the cloth and purify the selvage . . .

And out of this you must go forth
So bend your body's bow and merge your flesh with honest toil,
Test your arrow's flint on your own heart . . .

Let Faith and Hope and Tolerance, life's enduring links, hold fast your Soul to Spirit . . .

Aim at the Sun!

The declining importance of air mail revenues to the airlines is shown by comparing the reports for the year 1939 and 1932—in the latest year, passenger traffic accounted for 64 per cent of gross revenues, and mail 33 per cent, compared with 23 per cent and 75 per cent in 1932.

New Books Available At Public Library

Among the newer books and one that shows a refreshing treatment of an autobiographical theme is Hans Zinsser's "As I Remember Him—Biography of R. S." By the use of the mythical R. S., Dr. Zinsser saves himself from the too frequent use of the personal I and achieves an entirely original autobiographical note.

The book carries us through the little German-American school which prepares the author for Columbia University, some fossil hunting in the west, the Spanish-American War and through a young doctor's internship, and eventual medical practice. It is at all times entertaining and sustains the theme that any special interest is simply a monomania unless in harmony with all aspects of life.

The book is important in that it is rich in feeling and show great depth of insight. Aside from an entertainment value, the author's just comments on men and things are also apt if often unconventional. There is an occasional note of bitterness but Dr. Zinsser neither loses sight of the fun of life nor does he minimize its difficulties.

A lighter vein comes from the pen of Angella Thirkell in "Before Lunch," another book causing much comment. This has an English rural community, where the important event of the year is still the annual agricultural show, as its background. It is a picture of leisurely country living in a society in Europe just recently disrupted. Miss Thirkell is witty and often ironic but throughout her book there is a humorous charm and kindly portrayal of character.

These are only two of many recent publications which may be had at the Monroe Public Library. The library is well stocked with current literature as well as material on any subject desired. A list of Louisiana books is presented:

"Cawn Bone and Pot Likker," by Blanche G. Oliver; "Lafitte, the Pirate," by Lyle Saxon; "Strange True Stories of Louisiana," by George W. Cable; "Fantastics and Other Fancies," by Lafcadio Hearn; "Soldier of Good Fortune," an historical novel by Ruth Cross; "The Ursulines in New Orleans," 1727-1925; "Bayou Folk," by Kate Chopin; "Old Creole Days," a story of Creole life by George W. Cable; "Birds of America," by J. J. Audubon; "History of Louisiana," by Magruder; "Creole Families of New Orleans," by Grace King; "Balcony Stories," by Grace King; "Kate Chopin and Her Creole Stories," by Rankin; "Impressions of Old New Orleans," a book of pictures by Arnold Genthe; "Four Cents An Acre," the story of Louisiana under the French by Georges Oudard; "Social Life in Old New Orleans," being recollections of the girlhood of Eliza Ripley; "Wild Flowers of Louisiana," by Caroline Dorman; "Mardi Gras Masks," by Frances Linker; "Bayou Triste," a story of Louisiana by Josephine Hamilton Nicholls; "Deep Summer," by Gwen Bristow; "Old Louisiana," by Lyle Saxon; "Fabulous New Orleans," by Lyle Saxon; "This Side of Glory," by Gwen Bristow; "Louisiana Cuisine Creole," a collection of culinary recipes from leading chefs and noted Creole housewives who have made New Orleans famous for its cuisine; "Early Printing in New Orleans," by McMurry.

In charge of supplies, Mrs. Joe Brown; the American Legion Auxiliary, under Mrs. Ted Mahr, in charge of work room and equipment; the Junior Charity League, in charge of packing, and Mesdames Milling Bernstein, Nathan Gaston, Henry Guerriero, C. Johnson, R. Davis, Ray Rhymes, and Misses Ellen Hale and Sara Cole Morrison.

Red Cross Workers Reach Assigned Quota

The past several months have been most active ones for the Monroe Red Cross.

At Neville High School, headquarters for the bandage making division under the direction of Mrs. C. E. McKenzie, the quota of assigned work was completed on Thursday, August 29. Mrs. McKenzie is well pleased with the work and expresses her appreciation to the following groups and individuals who so graciously assisted her in this work:

In charge of supplies, Mrs. Joe Brown; the American Legion Auxiliary, under Mrs. Ted Mahr, in charge of work room and equipment; the Junior Charity League, in charge of packing, and Mesdames Milling Bernstein, Nathan Gaston, Henry Guerriero, C. Johnson, R. Davis, Ray Rhymes, and Misses Ellen Hale and Sara Cole Morrison.

Mr. Lucius Blake Is Honored At Ruston

Monday afternoon Mrs. Lucius W. Blake, recent bride, was honored at a lovely tea given by Misses Loraine and Dessie D. Ponder in their home on South Trenton street in Ruston.

Reception rooms were attractively decorated with numerous bouquets of summer flowers. The serving table, covered with a handsome lace cloth was centered with a bowl of specimen yellow marigolds. Miss Dessie D. Ponder presided at the crystal punch bowl. She was assisted in the dining room courtesies by Miss Sarah Ann Baskin.

A large number of guests called between the appointed hours of four and six o'clock.

Miss McKoin's Guests Honored At Parties

Miss Betty Reilly entertained in honor of Miss Dean McKoin's three attractive guests with luncheon at the Lotus Club. A summer luncheon was served to the honorees. Misses Elizabeth Phillips, Helen Phillips, Gertrude White and to Miss Dean McKoin and Mr. Tracy.

Mr. Tracy was a member of the senior class at Jefferson High School. Mr. Tracy attended Northeast Junior College in Monroe and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston.

Attending the bride were Mrs. V. V. Kessler, Jr., and Miss Mary Biggs. Mr. V. V. Kessler, Jr., and Mr. George Neilson acted as groomsmen to Mr. Tracy.

A number of pleasant compliments have been extended to Miss McKoin's guests during the past week. Among these were Mrs. Dick Tracy's coffee hour, a dinner party with Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cummings as hosts, bridge with Mrs. D. A. Boyd, and on Thursday evening a dinner party in Mer Rouge, La., at the home of Mrs. Shelby White.

Miss Imogene Rhodes Weds Sidney Johnston

Of cordial interest was the wedding of Miss Imogene Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rhodes of Junction City, Ark., to Sidney Johnston, Ruston, which was solemnized Wednesday morning, August 21, at 8 o'clock in the home of Rev. and Mrs. S. E. McFadden, with Rev. McFadden officiating.

The bride's wedding ensemble was an early fall model of soldier blue with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink split asters.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will enjoy a wedding trip to Biloxi, Gulfport, and back via New Orleans and Baton Rouge.

They will reside in Ruston.

'My Love Came Back' Plays Today Only At Paramount

De Havilland And Lynn Are Stars Of Hit

Picture Is Titled One Of Greatest Comedies Of Current Season

ONE of the greatest comedies of the year is coming to the Paramount theater today when Walter Breen's "My Love Came Back," featuring Olivia de Havilland in her second starring role, has its sensational premiere. It's "Love With the Wind." Jeffrey Lynn supports Miss de Havilland, and a cast of radio stars includes Eddie Albert, Jane Wyman, Charles Winninger and Spring Byington. A star-studded cast, the picture was directed by the popular Hollywood director Kurt Neumann. "My Love Came Back" is the second new film for screen debutants of the hilarious school. The story opens on a beautiful, talented young string violin student, Amelia Carlson, played by Miss Dixie De Ville, in a look at her musical teacher in a New York music academy. This is the result of the teacher's unwisely recommending America for being late. The girl, to support her mother, had been giving music lessons. But this is against the academy rules.

A sentimental gentleman is induced to take Miss Mallette, played by Charles Winninger. He arranges to give Amelia a scholarship, without her knowing her patron's identity. She accepts Julius as a friend, not knowing what he has done for her. To pay more attention to the girl's career, Julius turns his factory over to Tony Baldwin, played by Jeffrey Lynn. At the same time, Amelia's best friends, Joy and Dusty, portrayed by Jane Wyman and Eddie Albert, also music students, are trying to organize a band to swing the classics. They need money.

A series of wild events follows as information of Julius' support of Amelia becomes public property, and the girl tries to clear her name, but Joy and Dusty continue to accept money in her name, to put over the band. It's all straightened out, however, when the band is a success. Amelia returns the money, and Tony Baldwin realizes that the comely virtuoso is made to order for him.

"My Love Came Back" is based on a story by Walter Reich, adapted for the screen by Ivan Goff, Robert Buckner and Earl Baldwin.

L. S. U. BOARD PLANNING UNIVERSITY AIRPORT

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—E. Monnet Lanier, Plaquemine, member of the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors, revealed that a study is being made looking toward establishment of an airport at the university.

At present the Ben Hur plantation, owned by the university and now used by its college of agriculture for experimental work, is being considered as a site by a special committee named by the university board.

Lanier inspected the eight training planes of the university stationed at the city airport.

It's a gay new romance when Olivia de Havilland turns on her charm in the hottest new blues-chaser of the year, "My Love Came Back," featuring Jeffrey Lynn, and playing today only at the Paramount theater. It's a brand new Olivia.

Eddie Albert seems all wrapped up in his music. What he does to the people who listen to him is something, depending on how you like your music! It's all in "My Love Came Back," playing today only at the Paramount theater.

Typhoon' Is Attraction At Capitol

Dorothy Lamour And Robert Preston Starred In Story
Of South Seas

TEAMED for the first time in films, lovely Dorothy Lamour and Robert Preston supply the romance in Paramount's Technicolor South Seas adventure film, "Typhoon," which plays today at the Capitol theater. Lynne Overman and

J. Carroll Naish will be featured with them in supporting roles.

Main setting for the colorful story of "Typhoon" is a small island in the Dutch East Indies pearl grounds. The picture, of course, takes its title from the seasonal storms that lash these waters, one of which forms the climax.

Dorothy Lamour, siren of sarongs girl, this time wears a "lava lava," which, reports say, is a Polynesian wrap even briefer than the sarong. Robert Preston literally follows suit; he wears a "pareo," which is the masculine equivalent to Doty's bright brevity.

The story storms in as a sailing ship founders, and as Dorothy, as a ten-year-old girl and the sole survivor, is cast on a lonely shore. Years elapse, and the scene shifts to a nearby island, where Robert Preston, discharged from the navy, is a derelict befriended only by his old pal, Lynne Overman.

Lynne has a submarine, with which he hunts pearls. When he and Bob brawl with a powerful native chief, they must flee on the submarine to save their lives. Lack of oil forces them to abandon ship on a strange isle—which proves to be Dorothy's. Now she has grown to alluring womanhood, lives in a sort of jungle penthouse with a female chimpanzee as her only companion.

Action hustles the continuity to its awe-inspiring windup. J. Carroll Naish leads the crew in mutiny against the sailors. There's a gripping sequence as the submarine submerges, with the main hatch not dogged down! Suddenly interruption of the love story is provided by the pursuing chief, who discloses the sailor's hideaway, and comes shoreward to kill.

Climax is capped on climax. Barrels of oil spread on the scant shoreline are fired by the chief to burn the whole island. Vivid flames race through the foliage, as the hunted race through the jungle for life. Then the instantaneous fury of the tropical storms bursts upon the island!

Interwoven with the jungle romance, and with the spectacular sequences of storm and fire, is plenty of relieving humor, supplied by Lynne Overman and the chimp.

The sparks of Bette Davis' genius burn with a steady glow in "All This, and Heaven Too," co-starring Charles Boyer. This story will be cherished in your memory for a thousand tomorrows. A brilliant motion picture; a brilliant triumph. It will be shown Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, at the Paramount theater at no advance in prices.

Members Of Prominent Families Married Here

Reception At Virginia Hotel Follows Beautiful Ceremony; Couple On Honeymoon Trip To Cuba

The marriage of Miss Doll Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson, and Mr. Henry Biedenharn, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, was solemnized Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Grace Episcopal church with Reverend E. F. Hayward officiating. An all white theme was carried out in the floral decoration at the altar and throughout the church. Miss Emma Louise Biedenharn, accompanied at the organ by Mr. R. C. Frisbie, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" preceding the ceremony.

Miss Hudson's wedding gown was of English net over white satin with a formal veil of handsome princess lace over rose point illusion. She carried a bouquet of orchids and valle lilies. For something old she wore her grandmother's diamond.

Attending the bride were Miss Jean Terzia, maid of honor, Misses Gloria Frances Major, Martha Wilton McHenry, Elizabeth Hough, Sally Peck, Mesdames Haydn Cutler and Herbert Norwood. The maids were attired in white silk net over taffeta caught with velvet bows. Bouquets of old-fashioned flowers in pink and blue relieved the all-white note. Matching cape completed the costumes.

Attending Mr. Biedenharn were Mr. Kirt Touchstone as best man and Messrs. Tommy Downes, John Sherrouse, Fred Hudson, III, Simon Hodge, Barry Stubbs and Walter Jacobs. Master Haydn Cutler was ring bearer.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Murray Hudson.

Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception at the Virginia Hotel on the roof garden. In the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hudson, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Jr., Miss Jean Terzia, Mrs. Haydn Cutler, Mrs. Herbert Norwood, Misses Gloria Frances Major, Martha Wilton McHenry, Elizabeth Hough and Sally Peck.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Murray Hudson, chose a gown of silver and white lace and Mrs. Henry Biedenharn, Sr., wore platinum net embroidered in silver over satin.

At the bride's table, a creation in white with garlands of pastel flowers surrounding the handsome wedding cake, the formal note prevailed. Decorative effect on the roof garden was achieved with pastel flowers and bamboo.

Mrs. Biedenharn is a graduate of Abbot Academy in Andover, Mass., and spent two years at Wellesley College in Wellesley, Mass. Mr. Biedenharn is a graduate of Culver Military School, Culver, Ind., and spent two years at the University of Virginia. He is a member of Chi Phi fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Biedenharn left soon after the reception for a trip of several weeks in Havana, Cuba. Returning, they will be at home in Monroe.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. E. E. Matteson, Wee-

Plans Being Made For T-B Conference Here

The office of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association is quite busy these days making plans for the Southern Tuberculosis Conference which meets here in Monroe on October 21-22-23. This will be the first time the conference has met in Louisiana.

The conference will bring prominent physicians and tuberculosis workers from various sections of the country. There are meetings planned for the medical men, also a non-medical section for tuberculosis workers and other interested persons. The non-medical section will be open to the public, giving all an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the various health problems confronting the public.

Captain G. B. Cooley, president Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association, will serve as honorary general chairman, and Mr. William Rodriguez has been selected as chairman on local arrangements and with the help of his committees will see that all guests are properly entertained at all times.

Mrs. DeWitt Milam, chairman for the banquet, has started making plans for a very elaborate affair at which many distinguished speakers will be heard. The address of welcome will be extended by Governor Sam H. Jones.

Other committees consist of Mrs. Gordon Wright, chairman for the luncheons; James A. Noe, chairman of the boat ride up the Ouachita river, with Mrs. Irving J. Wolff and her committee ready to serve tea at the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium.

Mrs. D. Aubrey Haas, chairman of souvenirs, will see that each guest receives a token of remembrance.

Gordon Cummings, chairman of transportation, will see that at all times the guests will be assured of transportation to any place they may wish to go.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale will see that the doctors' wives and others who may not desire to attend the meetings will have a chance to meet some Monroe ladies.

Mrs. T. L. Morris will assist the Chamber of Commerce in seeing that each person registers. There will be no fee for registration.

Vacationer In East Describes Attractions

Miss Eve Bradford, who has been vacationing in New York City and will return on September 2, writes us from New York:

"This has been a wonderful vacation for me with cool weather making the whole set-up just perfect."

"My visit in Washington was a never-to-be-forgotten one. I, of course, visited the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington and left with a lump in my throat. The solemnity and nobility characterizing this tomb deeply impresses the average visitor. The Lincoln monument is another impressive sight. One seems to feel an actual, living presence."

"I was privileged to attend a session in the House of Representatives, and a session in the Senate.

"New York looks bigger than ever to me and has taken on a foreign atmosphere. Everywhere one goes people are talking in a foreign language. Most conspicuous of all are the Britishers. I rode on a Fifth Avenue bus one evening and just behind me were a party of English people. They talked loudly about conditions 'over there' and compared everything they saw with life in England.

"I am planning to attend a Major Bowes broadcast tonight.

"The trip to the World's Fair was a revelation. It is so vast that at first I was bewildered.

"The day was simply perfect—like a day in early October. The flags of all the nations in the court of nations were waving in the breeze and the deep-toned chimes from the Florida tower could be heard in every section.

"I found the Switzerland exhibit lovely and quaint. The garden was built on the side of snow-covered Alps and beautiful girls in peasant costumes waited on tables. I tried to taste all the food in the different villages but only a gourmet could accomplish such a task. ## SURPRISES PROVE DEADLY WEAPONS

Statesmen, Army General Staffs, Experts Seem Baffled

(By Associated Press)
By Edward E. Bonner

The war that started just a year ago with the sudden invasion of Poland has served as a continuous demonstration that surprise is still the deadliest of weapons.

Statesmen, army general staffs and military experts almost without exception have been as mystified as the man in the street in anticipating the conflict's course.

Even Adolf Hitler and his advisers who possessed the initiative from the start, must have been startled repeatedly at the power of the military and psychological forces they called into being.

The prestige of the prophets have gone with the reputation of the generals who errred. There were a few forgotten predictions of an eventual burial of differences between the Nazi and Communist dictators, but who aside from the principals themselves anticipated the actual alliance between Hitler and Soviet Russia's Joseph Stalin?

Hardly a military man foresaw with any degree of certainty the destruction of Poland three weeks after the first blitzkrieg was launched last September 1. The invasion of Norway was as complete a surprise to the world at large as it was to the unsuspecting Norwegians themselves.

Not even the gloomiest of Allied Cassandrae voiced a warning that the army of France, which neutral officers often termed the world's finest, would be wiped out as an organized force in less time than required for the conquest of Poland.

It is no secret that the foremost American Army men were as deceived as French and British leaders as to the striking power of the German Army and air force.

After Munich, France and Britain were far less confident, but they felt fairly secure behind the Maginot line and the British fleet. If war came, it was obvious it was in trouble because Germany was squeezed into submission by a blockade. What was feared was "total war" by air on civilian populations before the Allies built up their own defenses against this new peril.

For months the strategy appeared so effective that an Italian general in February suggested the possibility of another 30 years war like that of the seventeenth century.

It is mostly forgotten now, but the predictions were confounded as completely a quarter century ago. In 1914 a short war of maneuver was generally anticipated instead of the bloody four-year stalemate that eventuated. Generals were deceived as well in 1910 when France went under so quickly.

With the upsets of the last year fresh in their minds, military men are inclined with reason to be cautious now. The greatest surprise of all would be that there were no more surprises in store. If Hitler's bag of tricks should be nearing exhaustion, stubborn Britain appears still capable of startling the world.

DEATHS

JAMES THOMAS PAYNE

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Funeral services for James Thomas Payne, 58, and wife, Margaret Elizabeth Griffith Payne, 55, were held at the Lake Providence Methodist Church Saturday afternoon, with Rev. H. N. Brown conducting the services.

MEN ENROLLED TO DROP AT L.S.U.

Demands Of National Defense To Cut Registration In School

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 31.—The Louisiana State university today expected a sharp decrease in enrollment of men students because of the demands of national defense, whether or not conscription legislation is enacted.

Registration figures for the session beginning September 9 showed the number of men was 465 under the total enrolled at the corresponding period last year. Attendance of men on the main campus here has averaged about 1,500 in recent years.

"It is evident that there will be a marked decrease in the university's enrollment of men students, reflecting the trend already evident in college registration throughout the country," said acting President Paul M. Heber.

"The opportunities for men in various phases of the national defense program have absorbed many advanced students, particularly those who earlier in the year had planned to return to the university for graduate work."

These are several other features of the German-American move which are well worth consideration:

1. The arbitrary decision of Messes Hitler and Mussolini whereby something like half of the fine province of Transylvania is ripped off from Romania and returned to Hungary which lost it in the World War, is good only so long as Hitler is head man in Europe. Its length of life depends on whether he has the battle of Britain.

2. The manner in which Hitler handled this situation is an excellent illustration of the rule which observers generally expect him to impose on his "New Europe" if he does win the war.

He took two neutral and two foreign countries, knocked them heads together and said in effect: "Do this fast, and no nonsense."

3. Maintenance of "peace" in the Balkans is as indicated, vital to the axis assault on Britain. But this "peace" cannot give to Hitler the supplies which he so sorely needs from this productive region. The crops of the Danubian basin, one of the world's great granaries, are said by experts to be the poorest in 10 years. Further, agricultural production has fallen off heavily because all the Balkan states are standing at arms.

The peace which the Nazi chieftain has conjured out of his fact can't affect those facts, though obviously it does ameliorate the situation.

4. King Carol's chances of getting back the territories which he has lost to Russia, Bulgaria and now to Hungary, would seem to rest wholly within himself. The only harm that is for him is the maxim that God helps them who help themselves.

He had the backing and friendship of Britain, but lost that. It looks as though the only way he ever will get back big domains is with his own two hands, if the time ever arrives when he can use them.

5. The time hasn't yet arrived for the showdown between Hitler and Stalin which many observers confidently expect. They still speak together, but with guns strapped on their hips.

Russia's ambition has been to have control of the lower Danube in Romania, the Black Sea coast, and the Dardanelles, thus blocking Germany's similar desire. The operations of each of them in Rumania are imminent to the interests of the other.

The position is still the same as it

LEAVES OFFICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(P.T.)—A sad-eyed janitor took down a smiling autographed picture of the late W. Rogers from a postoffice department wall today, shook his head and read out loud:

"To my close personal friend, Jim Farley, a practical politician and a gentleman—a rare combination."

The janitor brushed a cloth across the portrait the cowboy humorist gave Farley a few months before his death, and put it carefully into a packing box with a hundred odd other signed pictures.

"That says it quick," said the janitor, "but it says it all."

Workmen moved the box of pictures out of the spacious office suite and trundled it down the hall unofficially severing James A. Farley's last connection with the United States Post Office Department.

Officially, his resignation as postmaster general ended at midnight Saturday.

The box of pictures were from men all over the nation whose names are known in most American homes and Farley treasures them among his possessions.

In another box workmen had bundled up thousands of telegrams and letters that came in on the eve of Farley's resignation.

And in still another—and much smaller—box Farley himself took away a $300 set of cuff links and studs presented by officials of the department.

As he quit his duties, Farley performed one of his most amazing feats of handshaking and name-recalling.

The 1,200 employees of the department in Washington, at his invitation filed into the suite, shook hands and spoke with him.

Most of them Farley knew by their first names.

Southern Artists' Works On Exhibit At Northeast Junior College September 15

Organization Show Of Paintings On Display

Monroe Art Association Sponsors Outstanding Exhibition Of Southern States Art League

Chosen from the Twentieth Annual Exhibition of the Southern State Art League, in the Mint Museum of Art in Charlotte, N. C., last April, the Eighteenth Circuit Exhibition is on a tour of the southern states which will last until next spring. It travels in several sections—oil paintings, water colors, and the graphic arts being sent out separately. The organization show of oil paintings will be shown September 15-22 at the Northeast Junior college, Monroe, by the Monroe Art association.

Each group is planned to be a cross-section of the work Southern Artists are doing today in that medium, and all were chosen by a jury appointed by President James Chinnell, Jr., consisting of Vice-President Edward S. Shorier, Director L. P. Skidmore, and himself.

Thus, each group includes examples of portraiture, landscape, genre painting, still life, and flower studies. In each there are to be found some in modern style, others in more conservative manner. Nearly every Southern state is represented in each group, some by four or five examples, and some of the southern artists contributing are living in the north or west. More and more typically southern scenes and subjects to be seen—negroes and their cabins, sharecroppers and their fields, cotton pickers, rural electrification, magnolias, familiar roads and street scenes in city or in village. The voice of the South speaks through these artists and tells what the South is like today, as the painter or etcher sees it.

By sending these samples of southern art to local organizations desirous of seeing them, the League affords an opportunity to many widely scattered communities, both large and small, of learning at first hand what achievements in pigment or in line have been produced by artists of southern birth or residence during the past year.

The League has its headquarters in New Orleans, and Miss Ethel Hutson is secretary-treasurer. The twenty-first annual exhibition of the League will be held in the Louisiana State Exhibit building, Shreveport, next April.

Five of the artists represented in this group are also represented in the other group of oil paintings sent out by the League this season. Two of these are former prize-winners and frequent exhibitors in the past circuits, while three are comparative newcomers. Marie A. Hull and Karl Wolfe of Jackson, Miss.—both of whom won honorable mention on the paintings which were chosen for the Gallery show, "Sharecroppers" by Mrs. Hull and "Monday Morning" by Mr. Wolfe—have won prizes more than once in annual exhibitions of the League, as well as elsewhere, and each is a successful painter of portraits, flowers, and landscapes. Mrs. Hull was represented in the New York and San Francisco World's fairs, in the latter by the very same "Sharecroppers" mentioned above; and Mr. Wolfe in the New York exposition. He won the Parthenon medal in 1935 and the Benjamin prize in 1937, has had one-man shows in the Delgado Museum, and has had work in the Corcoran Biennial Exhibition in Washington, D. C., and in the Pennsylvania academy. "Gang Busters" represents him in the Organized show, and "Sand and Sea" is Mrs. Hull's contribution.

Mildren Nungester has won honors within and without her home state. Born in Ohio, she lives in Decatur, Ala., studied under J. K. Fitzpatrick, is a member of the Alabama Art League, and is represented in Leila Cantwell Seton Hall, Decatur. She has "The Ironer" in the Gallery show, and "Cotton Cabins" in the Organization show.

"Yellow Hill" in the Gallery and "Negro Cabins" in the Organization shows are by Reuben Gambrell, a native of Belton, S. C., who, after studying in Columbia, S. C., under May Marshall and Katherine Heyward, studied in the University of Georgia under Lamar Dodd. He won honorable mention in the Federal Mural exhibition held in the Corcoran Art gallery in Washington, D. C., and was awarded the commission to execute a mural for the Rockmart, Ga., postoffice.

David M. Reese of Newman, Ga., got his art training in the High Museum of Art, Atlanta, Ga., under R. S. Rogers and Ben E. Shute, and in the Fashion Academy, N. Y., under Emil A. Hartman. He has exhibited in the High Museum, where he has won four awards. He teaches in the Fashion Academy and has executed some portrait commissions. He has "Hen Powell" in the Gallery and "R. E. A." in the Organization shows.

"Sharecroppers" is a characteristic work by the Swedish-American painter Knute Heldner, now sojourning in St. Augustine, Fla., who is claimed at both ends of the Mississippi valley, having won recognition first in Minneapolis, Chicago, and Detroit and later in New Orleans, Jackson, Miss., and other Southern centers. Born in Stockholm, he studied there and in Minneapolis, and later in Paris under O. Frieze, A. L'Hote, and R. Kholer. He has exhibited in the World's fair in Chicago, Salon d'Automne in Paris, and the National Museum of Sweden, and has had two one-man shows in the

The Women's Department club executive board of Ruston met for its first session with Mrs. Addison Thompson, president, conducting the meeting. Mrs. Wyatt Hadley, chairman of the program and lecture committee, announced the following schedule of the monthly programs of the club for 1940-41:

October: Amos W. Ford of Louisiana Tech, authority on world affairs, will speak on "The Forthcoming Presidential Election." To this program, members of the club may bring one guest. The literature division of the Fine Arts department is sponsoring the program under the chairmanship of Mrs. Morris Kirkland.

November: Dr. Kayser, of Louisiana Normal college, will talk on "Arcady." This will be a lecture with moving pictures, and is sponsored by the program and lecture committee.

December: The Little Theater division will present "First Lady." This division is under the chairmanship of Mrs. W. A. McCoy, to be produced by the Little Theater department.

January: John Mike Kavanaugh, Louisiana Tech, will be presented by the program and lecture committee in a lecture on Mexico.

February: Mrs. Isabelle Liebers, Shreveport, will talk on Art. She will be presented by the Fine Arts department, Art division of which Mrs. J. S. McBride is chairman.

March: Drew Pearson, famous news commentator, will present the major program of the year when he is presented in a lecture on March 24. This affair has been planned by the program and lecture committee.

April: The Child Study division of the American Home department will present an outstanding speaker on child psychology. The speaker has not been selected as yet. Mrs. J. A. Shealy is chairman of this division.

May: The American Home department headed by Miss Anna Meadows will have charge of the program for this month.

Mrs. A. M. Ponder, hospitality chairman, announced that 12 teas would be given during the year at which all club members will serve as hostesses. Mrs. Addison Thompson, chairman of the music division, announced that two musical Sunday afternoons will be presented. The Little Theater department will present "First Lady" with an all-department club cast and will present two one-act plays, and a children's play called "Stolen Princess."

The Child Study department will hold its second annual children's party and also plan a study course for members of the department on parent's and children's problems.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Jean Browne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Rock, hold in Franklin, Tenn., August 22, with Rev. J. J. Stowe officiating. The couple will be at home in Jonesboro.

Mrs. Russell's Poem Is Widely Acclaimed

Mrs. James M. Russell of this city will be a guest at the "Poets' Shrine of the Raven," San Antonio, Tex., Tuesday, September 3. Mrs. Russell received word last week that her poem, "Aim at the Sun," had won first place in a nation-wide poetry contest conducted by Maud C. Schlippenbach, well known publisher and Minnesota poet.

In a letter notifying Mrs. Russell of the award, Mrs. Schlippenbach wrote that the poem was magnificent and had won first place because of its strength, beauty and vision.

A plaque engraved with Mrs. Russell's poem will be hung in the library room, "Shrine of the Raven," at San Antonio.

Her poem follows:

AIM AT THE SUN

(Widow to Her Boy)

Aim at the Sun!
For now again the earth is only a gutter, bubbling red with the blood of men,
And the nights are strafed with green-eyed monsters
Even as when I watched them so long ago eviserate the moon and cut the points from stars,
Then drop infernos to the earth
Where your father fell in a yellow trench an hour before you were born...
Down in a gutter with a thousand others while the battle of wasted wits waged on...

Then to God's holy pulpits went the polished men to preach
That war would save His Ordered World, avenge His death upon the Cross—
That the sun would shine on earth again,
And robe mankind in the raiment of Everlasting Peace,
An unseamed garment for everyone...

But the robes are rent!
The thread of loyalty has rotted on the spool of trust
And the stitches fail to mend the cloth and purl the selvage...

And out of this you must go forth So bend your body's bow and merge your flesh with honest toil,
Test your arrow's flint on your own heart...

Let Faith and Hope and Tolerance, life's enduring links, hold fast your Soul to Spirit...
Aim at the Sun!

The declining importance of air mail revenues to the airlines is shown by comparing the reports for the year 1939 and 1932—in the latest year, passenger traffic accounted for 64 per cent of gross revenues, and mail 33 per cent, compared with 23 per cent and 75 per cent in 1932.

Onrushing Yankees Crowd Leaders With 7-1 Victory Over Nats

CHICAGO Aug. 31.—P—The Cleveland Indians, battling desperately to retain their lead-in-leading margin, defeated the Chicago White Sox, 5 and 4, today in 12 innings after being shut out for the first eight innings.

Chuncky Ed Smith held the Indians to three hits and no runs until the ninth. Ken Keltner opened the rally with a groundout to Luke Appling, who booted the ball. Smith then walked Ray Mack and Rube Hensley and Clint Brown took over the mound duties.

Euan Bell, hitting for Harry Eisenstat, knocked an easy double playball to Appling but the veteran Sox shortstop again bobbled. Keltner scoring Ben Chapman lined a single to right, scoring two runs, and a fourth run came on Roy Weatherly's fly to left.

Mack singled in the 12th with one man out and sole second. Frankie Petkak, who relieved Hensley in the last of the ninth, drove home the winning run with a single to center.

'My Love Came Back' Plays Today Only At Paramount

De Havilland And Lynn Are Stars Of Hit

Picture Is Term One Of Gayest Comedies Of Current Season

ONE of the gayest comedies in years is coming to the Paramount theater today, when Warner Bros.' "My Love Came Back," opens, with Olivia de Havilland in her first screen role since her sensational success in "Gone With the Wind."

Jeffrey Lynn supports Miss de Havilland in the musical, and a cast of cheerleaders includes Eddie Albert, Jane Wyman, Charles Winninger and Spring Byington. A star-studded list of names, this, and directed by the important Continental director Kurt Bernhardt, "My Love Came Back" promises to set a new high for screen entertainment of the hilarious school.

The story opens on a beautiful, talented, high-strung violin student, Amelia Cornell, played by Miss de Havilland, hurling a book at her music teacher in a New York music academy. This is the result of the teacher unwise remanding Amelia for being late. The girl, to support her mother, had been giving music lessons. But this is against the academy rules.

A sentimental gentleman is industrialist Julius Malette, played by Charles Winninger. He arranges to give Amelia a scholarship, without her knowing her patron's identity. She accepts Julius as a friend, not knowing what he has done for her. To pay more attention to the girl's career, Julius turns his factory over to Tony Baldwin, played by Jeffrey Lynn. At the same time, Amelia's best friends, Joy and Dusty, portrayed by Jane Wyman and Eddie Albert, also music students, are trying to organize a band to swing the classics. They need money.

A series of wild events follows as information of Julius' support of Amelia becomes public property and the girl tries to clear her name, but Joy and Dusty continue to accept money in her name, to put over the band. It's all straightened out, however, when the band is a success, Amelia returns the money, and Tony Baldwin realizes that the comely virtuoso is made to order for him.

"My Love Came Back" is based on a story by Walter Reisch, adapted for the screen by Ivan Goff, Robert Buckner and Earl Baldwin.

L. S. U. BOARD PLANNING UNIVERSITY AIRPORT

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—E. Monnot Lanier, Plaquemine, member of the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors, revealed that a study is being made looking toward establishment of an airport at the university.

At present the Ben Hur plantation, owned by the university and now used by its college of agriculture for experimental work, is being considered as a site by a special committee named by the university board.

Lanier inspected the eight training planes of the university stationed at the city airport.

It's a gay new romance when Olivia de Havilland turns on her charm in the happiest new blues-chaser of the year, "My Love Came Back," featuring Jeffrey Lynn, and playing today only at the Paramount theater. It's a brand new Olivia.

Eddie Albert seems all wrapped up in his music. What he does to the people who listen to him is something—depending on how you like your music! It's all in "My Love Came Back," playing today only at the Paramount theater.

'Typhoon' Is Attraction At Capitol

Dorothy Lamour And Robert Preston Starred In Story Of South Seas

TEAMED for the first time in films, lovely Dorothy Lamour and Robert Preston supply the romance in Paramount's Technicolor South Seas adventure film, "Typhoon," which plays today at the Capitol theater. Lynne Overman and

J. Carroll Naish will be featured with them in supporting roles.

Main setting for the colorful story of "Typhoon" is a small island in the Dutch East Indies pearl grounds. The picture, of course, takes its title from the seasonal storms that lash these waters, one of which forms the climax.

Dorothy Lamour, sarong of sarongs girl, this time wears a "lava lava," which, reports say, is a Polynesian wrap even briefer than the sarong. Robert Preston literally follows suit; he wears a "pareu," which is the masculine equivalent to Dotty's bright brevity.

The story storms in as a sailing ship founders, and as Dorothy, as a ten-year-old girl and the sole survivor, is cast on a lonely shore. Years elapse, and the scene shifts to a nearby island, where Robert Preston, discharged from the navy, is a derelict befriended only by his old pal, Lynne Overman.

Lynne has a submarine, with which he hunts pearls. When he and Bob brawl with a powerful native chief, they must flee on the submarine to save their lives. Lack of oil forces them to abandon ship on a strange isle—which proves to be Dorothy's. Now she has grown to alluring womanhood, lives in a sort of jungle penthouse with a female chimpanzee as her only companion.

Action hustles the continuity to its awe-inspiring windup. J. Carroll Naish leads the crew in mutiny against the sailors. There's a gripping sequence as the submarine submerges, with the main hatch not dogged down! Sudden interruption of the love story is provided by the pursuing chief, who discovers the sailor's hideaway, and comes shoreward to kill.

Climax is capped on climax. Barrels of oil spread on the scant shoreline are fired by the chief to burn the whole island. Vivid flames race through the foliage, as the hunted race through the jungle for life. Then the instantaneous fury of the tropical storms bursts upon the island!

Interwoven with the jungle romance, and with the spectacular sequences of storm and fire, is plenty of relieving humor, supplied by Lynne Overman and the chimp.

Ginger Rogers is gorgeously gowned in her current romantic comedy smash opposite Ronald Colman, "Lucky Partners." The huge cartwheel hat of fine black straw makes a gala accompaniment to the black chiffon dress, posed over a slip of black silk crepe, which is accented at the neck with full-blown flowers of white mousse. Black suede accessories complete the ensemble. The two-piece grey suit at the right is worn by Ginger with a shirtwaist blouse of navy-and-white polka dot silk, which also drapes the postilion hat of navy in contrast to the bright grosgrain band. Special Labor Day attraction, playing tomorrow and Tuesday, at the Paramount theater.

"Typhoon," technicolor feature, starring Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston and Lynn Overman, plays today only at the Capitol theater. From beginning to end there is plenty of action and the storm is a scene you will like.

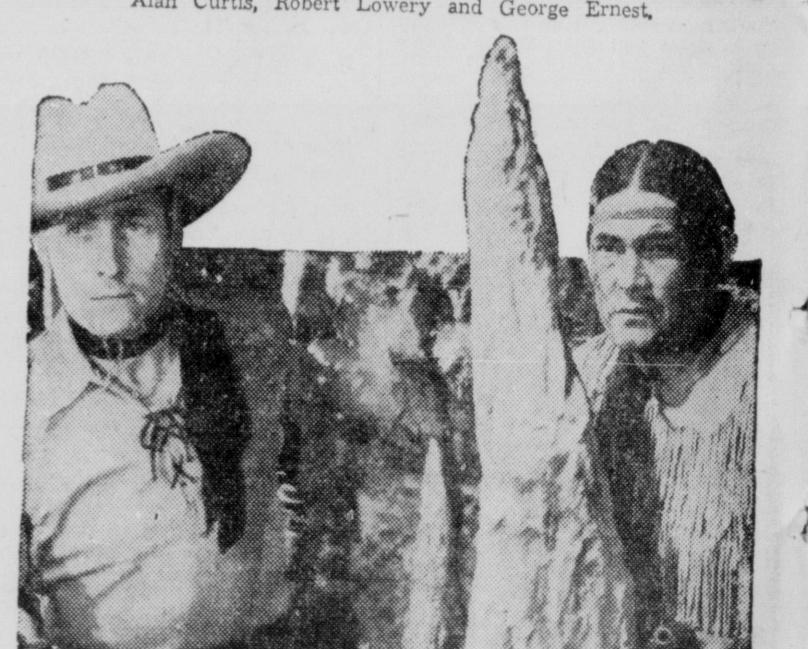

"Grand Ole Opry," starring Claire Carleton, Leon and June Weaver, and Roy Acuff. They do their hill-billy wildest and best Monday at the Capitol theater.

Merle Oberon, star of "Wuthering Heights," appears in "Over the Moon" at the Capitol Friday. "Over the Moon" is a romantic comedy based on Robert E. Sherwood's play. Rex Harrison, supporting Miss Oberon, performs excellently in this technicolor production by Alexander Korda.

Eugenie Leontovich, famous stage star, appearing on the screen for the first time, has the part of the inspiring mother in "Four Sons," which plays Thursday at the Capitol theater. The "Four Sons," are Don Ameche, Alan Curtis, Robert Lowery and George Ernest.

"Hi-Yo Silver," Tuesday's attraction at the Capitol theater, features Hi-Yo Silver, the wonder horse, Chief Thunder-Cloud, Lynn Roberts, Lee Powell, Herman Brix and William Farnum.

SURPRISES PROVE DEADLY WEAPONS

Statesmen, Army General Staffs, Experts Seem Baffled

(By Associated Press)

By Edward E. Bomar
The war that started just a year ago with the sudden invasion of Poland has served as a continuous demonstration that surprise is still the deadliest of weapons.

Statesmen, army general staffs and military experts almost without exception have been as mystified as the man in the street in anticipating the conflict's course.

Even Adolf Hitler and his advisers, who possessed the initiative from the start, must have been startled repeatedly at the power of the military and psychological forces they called into being.

The prestige of the prophets have gone with the reputation of the generals who erred. There were a few forgotten predictions of an eventual burial of differences between the Nazi and Communist dictators, but who aside from the principals themselves anticipated the actual alliance between Hitler and Soviet Russia's Joseph Stalin?

Hardly a military man foresaw with any degree of certainty the destruction of Poland three weeks after the first blitzkrieg was launched last September 1. The invasion of Norway was as complete a surprise to the world at large as it was to the unsuspecting Norwegians themselves.

Not even the gloomiest of Allied Cassandrae voiced a warning that the army of France which naval officers often termed the world's finest, would be wiped out as an organized force in less time than required for the conquest of Poland.

It is no secret that the foremost American Army men were as deceived as French and British leaders as to the striking power of the German Army and air force.

After Munich, France and Britain were far less confident, but they felt fairly secure behind the Maginot line and the British fleet. If war came, it was to be relatively economical, with the Allies on the defensive while Germany was squeezed into submission by a blockade. What was feared was "total war" by air on civilian populations before the Allies built up their own defenses against this new peril.

For months the strategy appeared so effective that an Italian general in February suggested the possibility of another 30 years war like that of the seventeenth century.

It is mostly forgotten now, but the predictions were confounded as completely a quarter century ago. In 1914 a short war of maneuver was generally anticipated instead of the bloody four-year stalemate that eventuated. Generals were deceived as well in 1870 when France went under so quickly.

With the upsets of the last year fresh in their minds, military men are inclined with reason to be cautious now. The greatest surprise of all would be that there were no more surprises in store. If Hitler's bag of tricks should be nearing exhaustion, stubborn Britain appears still capable of startling the world.

DEATHS

JAMES THOMAS PAYNE

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Funeral services for James Thomas Payne, 58, and wife, Margaret Elizabeth Griffith Payne, 55, were held at the Lake Providence Methodist Church Saturday afternoon, with Rev. H. N. Brown conducting the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Payne died in Pelham, Ga., 48 hours apart, while visiting relatives. Mrs. Payne died Tuesday afternoon and Mr. Payne succumbed Thursday.

The couple, natives of Saluda county, Ga., came to East Carroll parish in 1930, where Mr. Payne had farming interests with George Hider.

Surviving are son and daughter, Marcus Payne, Lake Providence, and Herbert White, Tallulah. Mr. Payne is survived by five brothers, Dr. Eugene Payne, Columbia, S. C.; Dr. Harvey Payne, Atlanta; George Payne, Young Island, S. C.; Jack Payne, Pelham, Ga., and one sister, Mrs. Alva Payne Madison, Flia. Mrs. Payne is survived by a brother, John Griffith, Saluda, S. C., and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Clearwater, S. C.

GEORGIA CLARK LOWERY

Mrs. Georgia Clark Lowery, 21, died at a local sanitarium at 4:45 o'clock Saturday morning. Funeral services will be held at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Clark, on Tippit street, at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, followed by interment in the Browne cemetery near Calhoun with Rev. E. L. Tanner officiating.

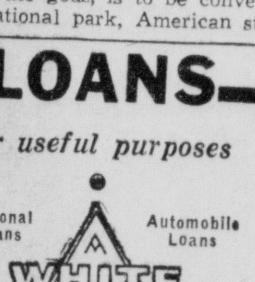

Mrs. Lowery is survived by her husband, William C. Lowery; one child, Tommy Sue Lowery; her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Ross C. Clark; three sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Roberts, Virginia Clark, and Lillie Mae Clark, all of West Monroe; two brothers, Tommy Clark, Longview, Tex., and Durwood Clark, West Monroe.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the Dixie Funeral Home.

MEN ENROLLEES TO DROP AT L.S.U.

Demands Of National Defense To Cut Registration In School

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 31.—(P)—Louisiana State university today expected a sharp decrease in enrollment of men students because of the demands of national defense, whether or not conscription legislation is enacted.

Registration figures for the session beginning September 9 showed the number of men was 465 under the total enrolled at the corresponding period last year. Attendance of men on the main campus here has averaged about 4,500 in recent years.

"It is evident that there will be a marked decrease in the university's enrollment of men students, reflecting the trend already evident in college registration throughout the country," said acting President Paul M. Hebert. "The opportunities for men in various phases of the national defense program have absorbed many advanced students, particularly those who earlier in the year had planned to return to the university for graduate work. Also, the acute economic situation in the flood and storm damaged areas of the state will probably contribute to the decrease in enrollment of freshman men."

The effects of the national defense program are also evidenced at the university in the numerous applications of men for instructions in the flying and ground school units of the flying school.

Prospects are for a heavy registration of women at L. S. U. and all available dormitory space for them has been reserved. Women students who have been unable to obtain dormitory reservations may live in private homes in Baton Rouge or near the campus with the approval of their parents or guardians. Mrs. Helen C. Wilkerson, assistant dean and director of housing for women, explained. So far, she said, it has been possible to place all Louisiana applicants and a small number of out-of-state applicants in residences nearby.

It was on the farm of Clarence Bishop, in a hollow by the edge of the clover field that the plane came down. It flew over Lovettsville, Va., in the northern tip of Loudoun county, about 2:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, Rhodes said he learned.

Soon it was over Bishop's farm and getting lower. Henry Thompson, who lived within an eighth of a mile, and his brother, Leroy, with Bishop were the first to reach the scene.

Henry Thompson said it was so "dark" at that time, because of rain, clouds and fog, that he couldn't see it, but he heard its motors, and heard the pilot apparently "zoom" his motor to try and get some altitude.

The plane, the Thompsons and Bishop told Rhodes, made a "swish" sound as it hit the ground, and then exploded. It didn't explode in the air, but just as or just after it struck.

They ran over, found bodies "blown all to pieces" the luggage and clothing strewn all over, and one of the tires of the landing gear burning. That was all of the plane that burned.

To my close personal friend, Jim Farley, a practical politician and a gentleman—a rare combination."

The janitor brushed a cloth across the portrait the cowboy humorist gave Farley a few months before his death, and put it carefully into a packing box with a hundred-odd other signed pictures.

"That says it quick," said the janitor, "but it says it all."

Workmen took the box of pictures out of the spacious office suite and trundled it down the hall unofficially severing James A. Farley's last connection with the United States Post Office Department.

Officially, his resignation as postmaster general ended at midnight Saturday.

The box of pictures were from men all over the nation whose names are known in most American homes and Farley treasures them among his possessions.

In another box workmen had bundled up thousands of telegrams and letters that came in on the eve of Farley's resignation.

And in still another—and much smaller—box Farley himself took away a $350 set of cuff links and studs presented by officials of the department.

As he quit his duties, Farley performed one of his most amazing feats of handshaking and name-recalling.

The 1,200 employees of the department in Washington, at his invitation, filed into the suite, shook hands and spoke with him.

Most of them Farley knew by their first names.

C. Beatty, a Washington grocery company employee, told The Associated Press after visiting the scene of the crash, that persons living in that vicinity believed the ship was struck by lightning.

"It was raining hard at the time," he said. "People living close by said that a sharp flash of lightning preceded the crash by a few seconds."

"It appeared that the plane had exploded. There were parts scattered over a 200-yard area."

Beatty said residents of the neighborhood told him that the plane was flying at a low altitude.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie
(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer)

The point of immediate importance arising from the axis-imposed "settlement" of the Rumanian-Hungarian territorial quarrel is that Herr Hitler probably (though not certainly) has averted for the moment a Balkan upheaval which would have been a calamity for his blitzkrieg against England—already running far behind schedule.

True, the Balkan pot was boiling angrily Saturday morning. Not only were tempers running high in Rumania and Hungary (especially the former, who lost great treasure to her neighbor), but Greece was cleaning its guns because of fears of Italian aggression.

The Russian bear was stalking the western boundaries of his preserves, which is a manner of describing mysterious war maneuvers. He was moving circumspectly, after his fashion, but with rumbles in his throat which might denote either dissatisfaction or pleasant anticipation.

Still, despite the tension the mailed fist of the axis powers ought to be able to keep the lid hammered down for the time being. If and when their pressure is lessened, watch out.

There are several other features of this German-Italian move which are well worth consideration:

1. The arbitrary demand of Messrs. Hitler and Mussolini, whereby something like half of the fine province of Transylvania is ripped off from Rumania and returned to Hungary which lost it in the World War, is good only so long as Hitler is head man in Europe. Its length of life depends on whether he wins the battle of Britain.

2. The manner in which Hitler handled this situation is an excellent illustration of the rule which observes generally expect him to impose on his "New Europe" if he does win the war. He took two neutral and sovereign countries, knocked their heads together and said in effect: "Do this fast, and no nonsense."

3. Maintenance of "peace" in the Balkans is, as indicated, vital to the axis assault on Britain. But this "peace" cannot give to Hitler the supplies which he so sorely needs from this productive region. The crops of the Danubian basin, one of the world's great granaries, are said by experts to be the poorest in 10 years.

Further, agricultural production has fallen off heavily because all the Balkan states are standing at arms.

The Germans, finding their massed planes too vulnerable a target, apparently have adopted new tactics. This was the familiar pattern of the day's raids: Large formations of 50 to 100 planes, once intercepted by British fighters, scattered in small clusters, then strung out in weaving follow-the-leader lines to swoop down on their targets.

This was the familiar pattern of the day's raids: Large formations of 50 to 100 planes, once intercepted by British fighters, scattered in small clusters, then strung out in weaving follow-the-leader lines to swoop down on their targets.

After a brief flurry of discussion, the committee deferred action until next Tuesday in order to give Representative Brooks, Democrat, Louisiana, who sponsored it, and Representative Smith, Democrat, Connecticut, a chance to work out a modification.

Those members said they planned to offer a version which would authorize the government to enter into a working agreement with a factory for the production of required materials.

Smith drafted a form which would require a plant owner to produce specified materials, or turn his facility over to the war department, for instance, for such production. The owner who refused would be subject to a $50,000 fine.

The statement also recommended adherence to local custom with regard to the payment of overtime wages for work in excess of 40 hours, and work done on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. The wage-hour law permits work up to 42 hours a week without payment of overtime.

The pronouncement was the first from a government agency in recognition of next week's annual labor holiday. President Roosevelt will deliver his Labor day message in an address at Chickamauga, Tenn., on Monday. Secretary Perkins will broadcast a message to the nation.

Organized labor's own attitude toward the defense program and work standards is expected to be discussed in addresses Monday by John L. Lewis and William Green, heads of the C. I. O. and A. F. of L. Green will speak at a labor meeting in Denver and Lewis will broadcast from Washington.

The position is still the same as it was.

COTTON STATES PLAYOFF STARTS HERE TODAY

MALONE PLEASED
OVER PROSPECTS OF INDIAN SQUAD

Junior College Mentor Will Have Two Strong Squads, Reserves

Coach Jim Malone of the Northeast Junior College Indians announced Saturday that he was "well pleased" with the first week of work done by his grididers in preparation for the 1940 season.

"The squad as a whole looks very promising to me," said the Indian mentor. "I am going to try and form two elevens, both of approximately the same strength." A third eleven will be slightly weaker, but capable of playing for a few minutes at a fast clip.

Coach Malone is being assisted by Son Seago, former Louisiana State University quarterback. Seago has been coach at the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell for the past four years.

Co-captains are Harold Hanson, in the line, and "Dub" Taylor, the ball-carrying department. Hanson has missed several days of practice due to a case of malaria, but will be able to do some light work this week. He is a tackle and is counted upon to hold down the left tackle spot on the first team. Taylor, a Texan, is a tailback and specializes in booting the ball and broken field running.

Coach Malone put the squad through its first scrimmage the latter part of the week and was especially pleased with the work of "Rowboat" Wrotten, a seat back from Haynesville, who lettered last year.

Team "A" shapes up as a bit the strongest eleven with George Jones, 190 pounds, and Edward Ochoa, 175 pounds, at the wings; Irving Zerdman, 220 pounds, filling in for Co-Captain Hanson, and Myle Nouman, 195 pounds, at tackles; Bill Abraham and Paul Howell, both 190-pounders, at guards, and Tommy Younse, 180, at pivot.

The backfield quartet includes Jake Lively, 180, at the blocking slot, "Rowboat" Wrotten, 150, tailback, "Dub" Taylor, 175, wingback, and Cercey Frey, 160, at fullback.

Of this group, Tommy Younse, a local product, stands out at center, and Bill Abraham is showing up nicely at guard.

The "B" eleven is composed of Ralph Taylor, 170, and Cecil Cooper, 175, ends; Harold Youman, 220, and Bill McMannis, 195, tackles; Joe Rosho, 175, and Ray Young, 195, guards, and Paul Landadio, a Pennsylvanian weighing 195, at center; David Young, Van Payne, "Lefty" McDowell, and Gerald White, make up the ball carriers.

The standouts on this eleven include Ray Young, St. Louis, Mo., who was the victim of a blood-poisoning attack during the summer, but seems to be completely recovered.

KALLIO ARRANGES FIVE-MAN BATTLE

Local Mystery Man To Make Appearance At Arena Thursday Night

A new type of entertainment will be given to local wrestling fans Thursday night at the Monroe arena, when five men, including a local mystery man, appear in the ring for a battle royal.

The first man to be put out of action in this free-for-all will get to take a nice shower and dress in his fine clothes, for he will be thrown for the night. But the second and third men out of the ring, will meet in the semi-final of the regular wrestling card. The last two in the ring will meet in the main event of the regular matches.

In the battle royal, besides the mysterious local man, will be such stalwarts of the neck-twisting art as Yaqi Joe, the Indian from Sonora, Mexico, Buck Davidson, another popular grappler from Terre Haute, Ind., Fred Robley, former junior light heavyweight champion, and Flash Clifford, the lion-tamer from London.

CHAMP

GOLFERS TEE OFF TODAY IN ANNUAL LABOR DAY EVENT

One Hundred Post Qualifying Scores; Shep Girault Medalist

Match play will start this morning in the ninth annual Labor Day tournament over the Municipal Golf course. One hundred golfers posted qualifying scores for the tourney, which will be divided into six flights of 16 each, with the four remaining golfers playing a flight by themselves. Prizes will be given to the winner and runner-up in each flight and the winner of the consolation.

Henry Castillo, last year's champ, didn't enter the 1940 meet, so a new champion will be crowned. Shep Girault was medalist of the tourney with 74.

The championship flight will start with the first foursome teeing off today at 9 a.m., and the time for the start of the other flights follows:

First flight, 8:30 a.m.; second flight, 8 a.m.; third flight, 7:30 a.m.; fourth flight, 7:15 a.m.; fifth flight and the extra foursome, 7 a.m.

The first and second rounds in the tourney will be reeled off today with the third and fourth rounds Monday. Prizes will be awarded at the clubhouse Monday at 6 p.m.

Fairings for the tourney are:

Championship flight: Shep Girault vs. Cramer Haas; Alan Andrews vs. Hiller Hesdorffer; Wesley Shafro vs. Jack Selig, Jr.; Bill Jones, vs. Bobby Oliver; Ben Downing, Jr., vs. H. K. Touchstone; Frank Strohm vs. John Myers, Jr.; H. T. Taylor vs. Robert Guerriero; Dickey Touchstone vs. Bill Junod.

First flight: W. L. James vs. Marvin Gleason; Dr. T. A. Brulits vs. Julian Reagan; Ernest Marchman vs. Ruffin Tidwell, Jr.; W. E. Sandel vs. D. H. Haynes; W. L. Moose vs. L. F. DeMott; M. G. Merkin vs. Bob Wharton; Fred Willis vs. C. E. McKenzie; Harold Furlow vs. Al Theriot; George Miller vs. Jamie Collins.

Third flight: P. A. Poag, Jr., vs. F. E. Bennett; Todd Spear vs. H. G. Frazer; Willard Fisher vs. C. P. Brogan; Dutch Womack vs. H. E. McKenzie; E. D. Cooley vs. Abe Johnson; J. C. Liner, Sr., vs. Elmo Evans; Jack Neel vs. F. J. Lingquist; D. S. Marx vs. Henry Florschheim.

Fourth flight: Carl Flanery vs. Ernie Spokes; Jack May vs. Bert Sperry; J. O. Pilcher vs. C. C. Rainwater; T. N. Hudson vs. T. John; Dr. B. Henry vs. John Collins; A. V. Frost vs. Walker MacMurdo; Theo Terzia vs. C. R. Coates; K. L. Welden vs. Eddie Fitzpatrick, Jr.

Fifth flight: M. D. Ehrhardt vs. Aaron Parker; W. A. Guy, Jr., vs. Millard Williams; W. W. Kellogg vs. H. B. Cannon; A. L. Harrington vs. Charles Reddick; P. A. Reising vs. T. J. Coenen, Jr.; C. A. Morgan vs. S. M. McReynolds; H. A. Gentry vs. Paul Arnold; Tom Smith vs. Gardner Young.

Sixth flight: Gene Bruscato vs. Logan Taylor; Max Dollar vs. E. E. Lawson.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Eddie Briez

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—News: If you like the Yanks you can get 3-1 in Jack Doyle's book. . . . Mike Jacobs reported shifting from Billy Conn to Pat Comiskey as Joe Louis' next opponent. . . . Banks McFadden's successor in the tailback spot at Clemson will be Joe Blalock, an end, who chucks aerials from the port side and is the only triple threat in sight.

It was the first time that a Monroe golfer ever won a top-flight prize in a national tournament.

Mr. Touchstone returned here Saturday morning after his week of golf in St. Louis.

THEY'RE THE TOPS

They'll not win the pennant, but the White Sox still are the American League's champion jockeys. . . . They stand in a horse and applaud loudly whenever Joe McCarthy makes a rare emergence from the dugout, thanking him for a personal appearance. . . . And they're getting under the Indians' hides by suggesting it would be nice if you could run bases as fast as they run up the steps to Owner Bradley's office.

Paul Waner, Lee Handley and Bob Klinger teed off in the Pittsburgh city championship the other day and swiped the entire gallery. . . . Steve Owen of the football Giants called the turn on the All-Star game—said Green Bay would beat the colleagues at their own game—passing. . . . What about Dartmouth getting ready to cancel its football series with Georgia? Also, what about those stories coming out of Orange, N. J., home of what used to be the great Galento?

Sox Defeat Greenville In Last Game Of Season, 7 To 6

MANAGERS HURL TO GIVE TIRED REGULARS REST

Both Teams Use Mixed Lineups, Batting Orders; Errors Plentiful

GREENVILLE, Aug. 31.—(Special)—The Monroe White Sox defeated the Greenville Buckshots 7 to 6 Saturday in the last game of the regular season, with both teams using patched-up lineups.

The two managers, Andy Reese, Greenville, and Doug Taitt, Monroe, shouldered the pitching burden for the nines, while the remainder of the lineups consisted of pitchers playing both infield and outfield positions and in-fielders and outfielders playing out of the regular spot.

Three singles and three errors gave the Sox three runs in the first frame. Joe Eagar was safe at second when Lou Bekeza, playing third for the Bucks, pulled Jim Brister off first, and Burt Hodge dropped Brister's throw when Eagar started for second. Bob Burt singled, scoring Eagar and Dale Englehorn was safe on an error by Reese, who dropped Brister's throw in covering first and Burt scored. Englehorn stole second and third and scored when Ed Knight rolled out to Brister at first unassisted. Charley Bowles singled, but was out trying to stretch the hit into a double, Hill to Hodge. Medak walked and Guy Pruitt singled, but Medak was out at third, Hill to Bekeza.

Billy Seal led off the Buck's half of the inning with a double, went to third on an infield out, and scored on a long fly to left. The Bucks got three more runs in the second. Al Leary doubled and went to third on a balk by Doug Taitt, Andy Reese singled, scoring Leary, and Bekeza singled, sending Reese to third and when Englehorn let the ball get through him, Reese scored. Pat Henry flied to right, but Brister doubled to center, scoring Bekeza.

The Sox tied the game in the third on three errors. Englehorn was safe at second on Leary's drop of his fly in left, and went to third when Brister dropped a throw from Hodge on Knight's grounder. An attempt was made to catch Englehorn off third and it was wild, going into left field and Englehorn scored.

After losing to the champion in the first round of championship play, the Monroe southpaw ace swept through the championship consolation field consisting of low-scoring stars from various parts of the nation, and emerged victorious late Friday with a close win over the Wisconsin entry.

After qualifying for the championship flight, Touchstone drew Alvin Everett, defending champion from Rome, Ga., in the first round and lost a close 3 and 2 decision to the titleholder. Everett went on to win his second consecutive title.

STARK DESCRIBES HOW WAR OPENED

Tells Of Events Immediately Preceding English Declaration

EDITOR'S NOTE. Sunday marks the anniversary of the first year of the European war. Present in London as English officials weighed developing events, the man who had led the battle against Germany was J. C. Stark, who has written the following story describing the events for the editorial staff of the Associated Press. After covering the early months of war, Mr. Stark returned to the United States and is now attached to the AP's Washington staff.

By J. C. Stark

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(Special)—The lights burned late, a year ago tonight, in the dingy old Whitehall Building in London that houses the British foreign office.

They shone through windows un-covered by "black-out" curtains, patterning the darkness outside, as they have done since.

Across Downing street at No. 10, the official residence of the prime minister, there was late activity, too, as there had been on an August night just a quarter century before when a famous British statesman, Viscount Grey, spoke the words that have echoed through the years:

"The lamps are going out all over Europe. We shall not see them lit again in our generation."

A year ago tonight was the twilight between peace and war. Germany had issued the 16-point demands on Poland—demands which Berlin said it regarded as already rejected. Now almost forgotten, so tremendous have been the events that followed, the demands and the manner of their issuance in Berlin seemed to make war inevitable.

But crises had come and gone with such regularity that no one could be sure.

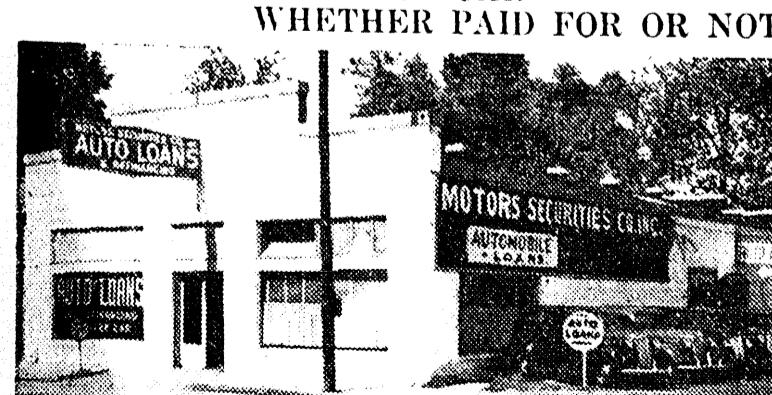

The British foreign office summoned a midnight press conference. In the antique-looking taxicabs moving at a pace that seemed to lag behind the rush of events, newsmen went to Whitehall, past the cenotaph which commemorates Britain's World War dead, into narrow, short Downing street and then up the stairs to the foreign office press section.

The writer was among them.

It had been a long day, heavy with suspense and the threat of war. Evacuation of 3,000,000 children and aged and sick persons from London and other large cities was ordered. "No one should conclude," said the ministry of health, "that war is imminent."

The British Navy was fully mobilized.

On your brawny shoulders and in your canny eye is a nation's destiny . . . for you will turn molten metal into silver wings and glistening bullets. You will build strong our ramparts, and give us the means to defend our frontiers, be they near or far. You, Labor, are the mainstay of our nation; true patriots who not only proclaim a love of country, but work for it! In our nation's march of progress, a united people salute you, Labor; for through your energy we gain new strength in our unity!

INDIANS EDGE CHICAGO, 5 TO 4, IN 12 INNINGS

BRIDGES HURS
DETROIT TO WIN OVER ST. LOUIS

Onrushing Yankees Crowd Leaders With 7-1 Victory Over Nats

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians, battling desperately to retain their league-leading margin, defeated the Chicago White Sox, 5 and 4, today in 12 innings after being shut out for the first eight innings.

Chunky Ed Smith held the Indians to three hits and no runs until the ninth. Ken Keltner opened the rally with a grounder to Luke Appling, who booted the ball. Smith then walked Ray Mack and Rollie Hemmey and Clint Brown took over the mound duties.

Beau Bell, batting for Harry Eisenstat, knocked an easy double playball to Appling but the veteran Sox shortstop again bobbled. Keltner scoring. Ben Chapman lined a single to right, scoring two runs, and a fourth run came on Roy Weatherly's fly to left.

Mack singled in the 12th with one man out and stole second. Frankie Pytlak, who relieved Hemmey in the last of the ninth, drove home the winning run with a single to center.

TECH BULLDOGS START FOOTBALL DRILLS MONDAY

Thirty-Three Varsity Hopefuls Ready To Report For Active Duty

RUSTON, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Gridiron destinies for the fall program at Louisiana Tech will begin to take shape Monday morning, when 33 varsity hopefuls—those remaining after several were scuttled for scholastic reasons and other matters since last spring—report to a pair of New Deal coaches, Joe Aillet and Cecil Crowley.

The Bulldog mentors will do the work formerly handled by three men at the college here. But that won't be anything new for Coaches Aillet and Crowley, who teamed together while tutoring at Hayesville High school a few years ago. For the most part, Head Coach Aillet will direct the backs and Crowley will train the line.
George (Blue) Hogg will continue with the freshmen and Eddie Wojecki will resume his training duties.

Just what "begins in 40" does not blaze now as brightly as it did some months ago, largely because of the depleted ranks. But Coach Aillet says he's about ready to quit singing the blues and do the best he can with what he has left.

The advance dope sheet shows but five seniors coming back for more.
They are Howard Barker, Jennings, halfback; Paul Bonin, Vinton, alternate captain and guard; Orr Merritt, Lebanon, Ind., quarterback; William Pirkle Vise, Homer, captain and halfback; and Bob Phillips, Clinton, Ind., tackle. Those five, Coach Aillet declares, are "not to be sneezed at," but he would like to have more as good.

The roster includes 13 juniors, namely: James Barnett, El Dorado, Ark., fullback; Harmon Burgess, Mansfield, center; Harold Dickens, Oak Grove, guard; Garland Gregory, Columbia, guard; Travis Hammons, Choudrant, center; John Laughlin,
Bloomfield, Ind., end; Fred Michael,
Homer, fullback; Bill Nash, Alexandria, tackle; Luther Smith, Memphis, Tenn., guard; James Tinsley, Haynes-ville, halfback; Tim Tyler, Greenbrier, Ark., end; Witt Vascon, Minden, tackle, and James Zoeller, New Albany, Ind., halfback.

Sophomores, coming up from last year's freshman class, totaling 15, are as follows:

Frank Bishop, Birmingham, Ala.,
fullback; Johnny Balance, Arcadia, halfback; Walter Ford, Lafayette, Ind., quarterback; James Garner, Mansfield, end; Jack Lanham, Monroe, end;
Robert May, Haynesville, quarterback;
John Perritt, Tyler, Tex., halfback;
Albert Parks, Decatur, Miss., end; Delmar Pierce, Newellton, tackle; Richard Reardon, New Albany, Ind., halfback;
Edd Roberts, Goodman, Miss., tackle;
Lloyd Scott, Monroe, guard; Harry Wiedner, Panama City, Fla., tackle;
Cet Wojecki, Erie, Pa., halfback; Tag
Yarborough, Arcadia, Pa., end.

One or two more may show up
Monday morning, Coach Aillet said.

There will be two practice sessions daily until the semester opens on September 9. In the morning the boys will go through conditioning workouts in shorts and in the afternoon will don full uniforms for heavier duty.

The Bulldogs will have three weeks to get ready for their opener, a game with Louisiana State University in Eaton Rouge the night of September 21.

LEG SPECIALIST

Sports Trail

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(AP)—It's pretty hard to work up a convincing case in behalf of any club except the Cincinnati Reds in the National league pennant race. The other teams have been caught in a strange henhouse at midnight, so far as anything might be said in their behalf.

This state of affairs grieves Bill Brandt sorely. Not that he doesn't want the Reds to win. He doesn't care, out loud, anyway, who wins.
Bill Brandt is the National league publicity director, and he must be strictly neutral, at least until the World Series, at which time, lately anyway, he must be just about crazy.

What grieves Bill is that the traditional National league September race promises to be about as tight as a bin of oats. And to make matters worse, that other league, as fans guessing.

But Bill isn't a guy to give up as long as he has mathematics on his side or can make old records play a soothing tune.

"Remember back in 1935 when the Cubs, after hanging around the .500 mark a good part of the season, won 21 straight games and the pennant?"

"And in 1926 and again in 1934 the Cardinals won the pennant on their last road trips. Why, last year, the Reds just lost to, as they say, the Cubs."

As a matter of fact, and record, the Reds haven't been the best team in the last couple of months. It was a couple of other clubs, as they say—the Cardinals and the Pirates.

The Cards suffered their 41st defeat July 11, and since then have been playing .700 ball, winning 35 games and losing 15 through last Wednesday.

The Pirates suffered their 39th defeat July 5. Since then they have won 36 and lost 19 for a .655 pace. The Reds had only 14 wins through Wednesday, although they were liable to descend upon the Reds, but virtually certain to visit them.

In case all these figures might be a little confusing to you folks, you can appraise how they must appear to Bill Brandt, who is adding and subtracting and multiplying and dividing trying to get an answer that will show there's a race left in the old league yet.

Just when he thinks his figuring is going to show a profit, he always comes out in the Red, so to speak.

There's no keeping that Cincinnati club anywhere except in the center of the picture. It's the eight-ball, and it looks like the seven other clubs are going to stay right behind it.

Milan Towns and Eugene Leah have been alternating at left end on the first eleven and both have shown plenty of pass snatching ability and hustle. Cullen Kirby and Henry Hazelet are giving Cummings a fight for the right wing.

At the all-important tailback slot, Avants has Thomas "Cotton" Hall, a good passer, runner, and fine kicker.

He is fast on his feet and is hard to catch in an open field. For his replacement, there is Brown, who will also play the wingback, and Velpo Guess, another wingback.

An ambulance and police arrived to discover that Bennett had been struck by a stray pebble from the shot-gang of a 44-year-old man, who had been indulging his boyhood hobby.

They held no fears at all for Bennett's recovery.

LITTLE HELPER

PORLAND, Ore.—Neighbors, finding a hose attached in the exhaust of an automobile, summoned Deputy Sheriff George Minelli.

Minelli shut off the engine, kicked the hose loose, and started to break into the house.

The owner, strolling up at that point, halted proceedings with the explanation: "Just fumigating."

EATS FOR THE PARTY

CHICAGO—Ben C. Varner's hobby is finding large watermelons.

He came across one—90-pounder—in Dallas, Tex., shipped it to a Chicago lumber company in a wash tub and now A. V. Green, the sales manager, is planning a watermelon party for the children in his neighborhood.

FORCED DIET

BOONE, Ia.—One pig didn't go to a market because it was buried in a corn crib near Boxholm for nearly a year.

The animal, weighing only 50 pounds, was found alive in the crib by a boy hunting pigeons. Its only moisture came from rain or snow leaking into the crib.

The pig was covered when the corn crib was filled and sealed.

ATHLETIC HERITAGE

LOS ANGELES—Jack Bundy,
Southern California backfield prospect, is the son of May Sutton and Tom Bundy of oldtime tennis fame.

STARK DESCRIBES HOW WAR OPENED

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Sunday marks the anniversary of the first year of the European war. Present in London as English officials weighed demands which meant entry into the battle against Germany was J. C. Stark, who has written the following story for the Associated Press. After covering the early months of war, Mr. Stark returned to the United States and is now attached to the AP's Washington staff.)

By J. C. Stark

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The lights burned late, a year ago tonight, in the dingy old Whitehall Building in London that houses the British foreign office.

They shone through windows uncovered by "blackout" curtains, piercing the darkness outside, as they have not done since.

Across Downing street at No. 10, the official residence of the prime minister, there was late activity, too, as there had been on an August night just a quarter century before when a famous British statesman, Viscount Grey, spoke the words that have echoed through the years:

"The lamps are going out all over Europe. We shall not see them lit again in our generation."

A year ago tonight was the twilight between peace and war.

Germany had issued the 16-point demands on Poland—demands which Berlin said it regarded as already rejected. Now almost forgotten, so tremendous have been the events that followed, the demands and the manner of their issuance in Berlin seemed to make war inevitable.

But crises had come and gone with such regularity that no one could be sure.

The British foreign office summoned a midnight press conference. In the antique-looking taxicab moving at a pace that seemed to lag behind the onrush of events, newsmen went to Whitehall, past the cenotaph which commemorates Britain's World War dead, into narrow, short Downing street and then up the stairs to the foreign office press section.

The writer was among them.

It had been a long day, heavy with suspense and the threat of war. Evacuation of 3,000,000 children and aged and sick persons from London and other large cities was ordered. "No one should conclude," said the ministry of health, "that war is inevitable."

The British Navy was fully mob-

Salutes ★★★★★ LABOR

On your brawny shoulders and in your canny eye is a nation's destiny... for you will turn molten metal into silver wings and glistening bullets. You will build strong our ramparts, and give us the means to defend our frontiers, be they near or far. You, Labor, are the mainstay of our nation; true patriots who not only proclaim a love of country, but work for it! In our nation's march of progress, a united people salute you, Labor; for through your energy we gain new strength in our unity!

The British Royal Air Force has been bombing Italy since last October. The first major raid was on Rome on Oct. 11. Since then, British bombers have continued to attack Italian cities, including Milan, Naples, and Sicily. The British are using heavy bombers like the Avro Lancaster and the Handley Page Halifax. The Italian air force has responded with their own attacks on British targets.

The British are also using their naval forces to attack Italian shipping. They have sunk several Italian ships and damaged others. The British are also using their地面 troops to attack Italian positions in North Africa.

Back To The Horse And Gas-Buggy Days

Lack of gasoline might put many a bus company out of business. But not the resourceful Danes. Operators of buses in Copenhagen, faced with gas shortage, just equipped their vehicles with four-horse teams and top-hatted "coachmen," as pictured above.

Roosevelt Scoffs At TVA Critics; He Dedicates Chickamauga Dam

Says He Glories In Accomplishments Of Federal Agency

By Douglas B. Cornell
CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 2.—(P)—Standing beside towering Chickamauga dam, President Roosevelt scoffed at critics of the Tennessee Valley Authority today and said he gloried in its accomplishments as "one of the great social and economic achievements of our time."

He dedicated the mile-long dam, and with it the TVA's entire system of dams and reservoirs along the Tennessee and its tributaries.

He dedicated them to: "The benefit of the people, the prosperity they have stimulated, the faith they have justified, the hope they have inspired, the hearts that they encourage—the total defense of the United States of America."

The TVA, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, supplies a demonstration of what "a democracy at work can do" of a people uniting in a war against waste and inequity."

"There were and are those who maintain that the development of this enterprise is not a proper activity of government," he declared, "As for me, I glory in it as one of the great social and economic achievements of our time."

A 24-hour train trip from his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., brought the president here for his first formal address.

CITIZENS AT DELHI WARNED TO WATCH DOGS AFTER SCARE

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(P)—Henry A. Wallace, who resigned as secretary of agriculture to become the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, said today he thought the South had almost reached the minimum for its cotton acreage.

"I think the South's cotton acreage had to be reduced," he said in an address prepared for a "non-political" appearance at the American Negro Exposition. "But we can't cut much further. If we do, we stop dying and begin starvation."

"Already too many people are trying to make a living on Southern farms and the situation has been made worse by the increasing trend toward mechanization."

"On one side, the market for cotton is contracting. On the other, fewer men are needed to raise the cotton crop. Cotton farmers are caught in a vice."

"The situation is serious, but I don't believe at all that it is hopeless. With an ordinary amount of common sense, we can solve the cotton problem and other problems too. Our problem is simple by comparison with the problems of some other countries that lack

Strange Political Setup

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2.—(P)—Mexico was confronted by one of the strangest situations in her political history today as two rival congresses disputed the right to represent the people and prepared to announce election of their own candidates for president.

In the turbulent national elections last July the government contends the administration candidate, General Manuel Avila Camacho, defeated his independent opponent, General Juan Andre Almazan.

Supporters of Almazan, now vacating in the United States, contend he was "overwhelmingly" elected and insist he will take office as the next chief executive on December 1.

PARADE IS HELD FOR LABOR DAY

Barbecue, Golf Tourney, Dance, Ball Game Other Features Here

Citizens of the Twin Cities in general turned to outdoor activities or rest Monday as they forgot business and settled down to their final period of a prolonged week-end holiday occasioned by Labor day.

Among the scheduled events were a parade through the two cities and a barbecue at Bernstein Park, sponsored by the Monroe Central Trades and Labor Council; semi-final and final matches in the Labor day tournament at the Municipal Golf Course and the second of the Cotton States League playoff series tonight at Casper Park.

The parade, which assembled at Louisville and Riverfront, journeyed first through West Monroe, and then Monroe terminating at Bernstein Park where the following speakers were scheduled to address the crowd:

Mayor H. H. Benoit, C. R. Tidwell, city commissioners of streets and parks, W. D. Rodriguez, city commissioner of finance and public utilities, Judge W. M. Harper, Dr. D. E. Brown, Virgil Hancock, Edward L. Gladney, Truitt L. Scarborough, D. Y. Smith, all congressional candidates; and John H. Busby, A. F. of L. representative from Washington, D. C., principal speaker of the day.

Inventions—Plenty Of Them—Are Sent To Officials

By W. B. Ragsdale
WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(P)—For years after an armistice which turned up dozens of devices for use in the World war, among them a mystery weapon that still being kept under wraps, the National Council of Inventors is mustering some of the keenest invention brains in the country into a search for new tools for the army and navy.

From their research laboratories in every quarter of the nation dozens of scientists, long skilled in the patient and painstaking work of tracking down peace-time inventions, have sent offers to the government to help devise more efficient equipment for war.
In addition to the skilled inventors, the aid of amateurs is being enlisted—and the general call for ideas has brought on a brain matching contest which already is bringing several hundred defense suggestions a day into the offices of the council.

The council is patterned in many ways after the naval consulting board of the United States, which functioned under the direction of the late Thomas Alva Edison during the World war.
He was responsible personally for the development of more than a dozen devices which were used then and have been used more widely since.
Lloyd N. Scott, late captain of the air force who acted as chairman of the board, and the War Committee of Technical Sciences, said after a study of its work in 1929:

"Every one expected that the board would evolve some invention that would compete with the central powers in the field of sweep and had the war ended another year an important anti-battle device probably would have justified this expectation in a degree. At least, such a device was expected by the board, such as wireless controlled bombs, devices for the automatic introduction of oil into the gun barrel, as well as others, gave promise of such results."

Scott gave no clue to what the mystery weapon may have been. Nor is it discussed with any more expansiveness nowadays. One official said he knew of the weapon and that it was being further developed and perfected. At that point he quit talking.

HAIL NEW DRUG AS DISEASE CURE

Sulfathiazole Is Baby Member Of Sulfanilamide Family

By Lewis Hawkins

ATLANTA, Sept. 2.—P.—Sulfathiazole, a baby member of the amazing sulfanilamide family, is holding strongly for recognition as the long-sought, effective weapon against dysentery bacilli, rugged pest equally at home in nursery or army camp.

At Henrietta Eggleston Hospital for children, physicians have watched this drug score repeated, spectacular victories over acute dysentery in children.

The hospital staff is unwilling yet to say positively that sulfathiazole is the long-needed curative agent for this ancient ailment, but it definitely is encouraged.

The drug was first made available for experimental use about a year ago and Eggleston was among the first to receive supplies of it. Sulfathiazole was designed primarily to attack staphylococcal infections, as sulfamamide deals with the streptococci.

Sulfathiazole was used in treatment of pneumonia and did its work here with fewer unfavorable reactions than Sulfapyridine but the real "kick" came from the dramatic outcome of the first test in a virulent dysentery infection. A 20-month-old girl was admitted to the hospital on a Thursday. Administration reports showed four days of illness with temperatures ranging from 101 to 103 degrees. The usual diagnosis of dysentery was confirmed by the laboratory.

The baby's condition improved steadily on hunger strike through Friday, Friday, and Saturday while the accepted therapy was applied.

Sunday morning the temperature dropped to normal. Tuesday, the bowel action was normal. Thursday evening, two days after admission, the patient was taken home.

Since then scores of other dysentery cases have cleared up speedily with sulfathiazole.

more than 100,000 persons in the United States alone, it has been estimated, have been influenced by the library's educational program. Since its opening, the library has received many letters of appreciation from people throughout the country, expressing their satisfaction with the service and the value of the books.

A woman who has been a member of the library since its opening says: "I have never seen so many books in my life. Every day new borrowers log in. During the first six months of its demonstration period it has loaned to Morehouse people more than 12,000 books."

Book service has been given in every part of the parish. There are six branch libraries at Bastrop, Boerne, Collington, Jones, Menard and San Saba, and the bookmobile makes weekly trips into the country in its twenty-five regular stops to lend or preloan approximately 1,500 books a month.

Germans Went Back To Hannibal's Time For Plan, Boyd Says

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Special News Service of The Associated Press and The Morning Star present here an outstanding series of the war as reported by Max Boyd, the AP's Washington Bureau chief, who has been following the day-to-day news during the first year of the European war. What lies ahead for Britain? Mr. Boyd says the analysis he has written in his effort to set forth both facts and the strength of our forces.

By Max Boyd

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2 (AP)—Into the military textbooks of the world the first year of the war in Europe has written a new chapter of history. Mechanical Speed and Power, the secret of Hitler's success, has become the lesson of the past year.

Hitler has demonstrated that the Roman way of war, the slow, deliberate, skillful, methodical, and costly capture of cities, is dead.

But the question is, can it be done again? Germany's road to Berlin, Sept. 1, 1940, is the same road that the Romans new, but the Germans have taken a new path, with weapons of speed and power, the formula being blitzkrieg.

This conflict is not the first application of the principle of concentration of force to warfare, but it is the first so far as strategy is concerned.

The expert thinks the Germans used the same broad plan in the battle of Flanders as Hannibal did when the Carthaginians gave the Romans their

HOWARD TRYING FOR HUGE STAKE

Sends Kayak II, Advocate After $25,000 Handicap At Track

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—P.-Washington Park's race meeting has been quite profitable for Charles S. Howard, San Francisco timberman, even if his Kayak II and Advocate fail to collect today in the $25,000 handicap.

Howard's Midland from the American Derby and his Porter's Cap took the top purse in the Futurity, entering the westerner's stable by $33,650. If Kayak II wins today's concluding program as he is favored to do, Howard would collect $26,500.

Advocate and Kayak II were quoted at 7-5 in the overnight odds. Kayak II carrying two weight of 120 pounds and Advocate 116. Johnny Adams is scheduled to ride the South American horse while no boy has been assigned to Advocate, winner of the Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington Park July 4.

Viscount of Valdina Farms is rated the best chance to upset Howard's entry in the mile and a quarter test. Mrs. Marie Evans' Sign Put was priced at 5-1 and close behind at 6-1 were Wal Plumage and Yale O Nine, entries of French Lick Stable. Friedberg and Astor Stables entered Manie O Hara and Mountain, listed at 12-1. Two long shots, Paul Kelley's Memory Book and Shadow Farm's Burning Star, completed the field of 10. If all go to the post, the race will gross $31,400 with $26,800 going to the winner.

This is the first time this season
